SHOT GUNS QUELL RIOT IN L. A. JAIL

120 Inmates "Strike" Against Crowded Cells, Break Furniture and Make Attempt To Wreck Whole Building

Leaders Shackled and Placed in Dungeon; Armed Guards Take Charge of Corridors After Revolt Is Overcome

LOS ANGELES March 30.—A dozen deputy sheriffs and policemen armed with sawed-off shotguns were on guard in the county jail today following a night of rioting participated in by about 120 prisoners in three of the building's overcrowded "tanks."

Six alleged rioters were shackled and placed in dungeons. Two of these were Chin Sing and Charley Kee, Chinese tongmen, charged with murder

Rioting continued during the morning and twenty deputies were added to the jail force. The sheriff announced ringleaders would be prosecuted for destruction of public property.

The disorders were in protest against the incarceration of three prisoners in a dungeon as punishment for burning blankets.

Sheriff Traeger was unable to quiet the tumult. Howling of the unruly prisoners spoiled the sleep of residents within a four-block radius of the jail. The demonstration was started by shattering lights and smashing benches Russell Walker, a trusty, was scalded by hot water thrown upon him by other prisoners who suspected him of disloyalty to their cause. Deputy Sheriff de War was slightly hurt when he was struck from behind by an unidentified inmate.

The disorders not only failed to gain the release of the three in the dungeon but resulted in Sheriff Traeger cancelling all privileges granted to prisoners. He forbade issuance of passes and directed no packages or newspapers be delivered to the prisoners

Bull Wins Fight With Flivver

Counter Charges Cripple Foe

Radiator Given Ghastly Wound

ALAMEDA, March 30.—Alameda, usually a humane and kindly community, has staged its first fight between a bull and a flivver. If Grant Hicks, poundmaster, has his way, it also was the last fight of the kind. The bull won, horns down, and Hicks is trying today to determine if he should collect from the city or consider himself lucky in getting off as well as he did.

Hicks was scurrying hither and yon through the brush looking for quarry, when, in his flivver, he came upon a procession in West Alameda composed of a large, strong bull and a man attempting to lead him. Every time the man struggled ahead three feet the bull backed him up six by tugging on the end of the tow rope.

It was a time for action, Hicks saw, so he lined the radiator cap of his flivver with the caudal elevation of the bull, stepped on the gas and let it go. The impact was considerable, the bull moving at least 4⅝ inches forward. The flivver bounced back, and while it was still bouncing the bull swung about on two feet and looked it over.

Hicks could see meanness in the bull's eye, but he had no time to charge again. The bull charged this time. With head down and horns in perfect alignment, he caught the flivver under the front axle and pushed it back to the next street before Hicks could even catch his breath. Hicks was for climbing out right there, but again the bull was too sudden. It bore down on the flivver at better-than-Oldfield speed, pushed a horn through the radiator and then shook off the flivver in mid-air.

Fortunately for Hicks the flivver alighted with its differential housing toward the bull, and that gave Hicks his chance. With water spurting from the ghastly wound in his radiator he once more walked on the accelerator and left that part of the Island City to his still energetic opponent.

Foreign Vessels Liquor Laden to Be Unmolested

U. S. Will Not Search Craft Nor Seize "Wet" Cargoes If En Route.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, March 30 — Foreign vessels, touching American ports with liquor cargoes, consigned to other foreign ports, will continue for a while to enjoy immunity from search or seizure by "dry" law or customs agents, while in American territorial waters, despite the ruling of the Department of Justice that the presence of such vessels violates the Volstead law. This decision, reached today by Treasury Department officials, holds in abeyance the status of such vessels pending further conferences between State Department officials concerning the trade and treaty rights which the Volstead act apparently ignored.

Regulations affecting so-called "in transit" shipments of liquors from one foreign country to another foreign destination, are now being drafted by the treasury The regulations prohibit the transshipment of liquors through American territory and forbid customs officers to accept such shipments. The regulations are aimed chiefly to prevent the importation of liquors from Canada.

The Department of Justice is making an investigation of liquor violation cases now pending in the federal courts in an effort to speed up prosecution, Attorney General Daugherty stated today.

KNIFE LIFTS CLOUD FROM INSANE MAN

Surgeon Cuts Bullet From Ex-Convict's Brain and Suicide Mania, That Possessed Him, Is Immediately Overcome

Complete Sanity Is Restored By Remarkable Operation Performed in N. Y. Prison By Physician. An Invalid

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

OSSINING, N. Y., March 30.—For the first time in four years, Roman Leondowski, ex-convict, awoke today without suicide being his first thought. The warm sunlight that flooded his room seemed soothing, not irritating as in the past. He felt as if a terribly oppressive cloud had lifted from his brain—life seemed worth living once more

There is a reason

For four years Leondowski has carried two bullets in his brain, received in a street fight at Schenectady. One of these bullets—the one that had disrupted his nervous system so that for the last two years he had to be confined, suffering from suicidal mania—was removed yesterday.

OPERATION IS REMARKABLE ONE

In the prison hospital, under the eyes of eight eminent surgeons, he was the subject of one of the most phenomenal operations recorded in medical annals. The man who performed it, Dr William J. Chapman, of Brooklyn, is himself an invalid He achieved the feat sitting propped up in a wheelchair pushed close to the operation table. So little hope was held out for the success of the operation that before the doctor was wheeled into the room the patient received the last rites of the Roman Catholic church

"I'm taking a fighting chance," Leondowski said "I'd be better off dead than as I am, anyhow."

But he lives today and is glad of his life. Doctors are confident the operation has restored him to complete normal condition mentally.

BULLET TAKEN FROM BRAIN

Dr. Chapman removed from the patient's head a section the size of a silver dollar, opened the brain covering then deftly located the bullet with his fingers and worked it to within three inches of the inner skull wall and slid it to the opening he had made. In another minute his forceps produced the ball It was half an inch long and weighed one-sixth of an ounce.

Then the surgeon tried for the other bullet, but found it too deeply imbedded to warrant the risk of extraction. This missile is in no position to affect Leondowski's mental condition, he concluded The operation lasted 22 minutes

Watts, who was in the basket, maneuvered down to a height of 1,200 feet then descended with a parachute Lieutenant Sullivan and his men, who were pursuing the balloon in an army truck, came up with it as it reached the earth and the explosion occurred immediately afterward Lieutenant Sullivan said he believed static electricity was responsible

HUNGARIANS REFUSED TO CROWN KARL

Former King Dashes Into Budapest Bent On Regaining Throne, But Sent Out; Admiral Horthy Advises

Support of Frontier Military Declined Ex-Ruler; Guards Put On Border To Stop Re-entry; Capitals Excited

BUDAPEST, March 30—(By the Associated Press.)—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary made his visit to Budapest Monday with the idea of taking possession of the Hungarian throne, but was unable to induce the Hungarian government to fall in with his plan, it has been learned from unofficial but excellent sources here.

Official confirmation of the fact of the ruler's visit was supplied today, and numerous details have departed from various quarters. The former ruler it appears came to Budapest accompanied by two friends. He arrived at the palace in the afternoon and invited Admiral Horthy, the regent, to turn over the reins of government to him.

The regent, however, after setting forth constitutional and political objections, refused the plan and induced the ex-monarch to promise to return to Switzerland.

FAILS TO WIN MILITARY SUPPORT.

Charles is reported to be at Steinamanger, in West Hungary, near the Austrian frontier, at which place he stopped on his way from Switzerland before coming to Budapest He was accompanied on his return journey from Budapest by Premier Lelcky, and he halted at Steinamanger on the pretext of indisposition, believing, it was said, that he might yet win over the troops stationed there.

Charles on his way into Hungary had made an effort to align the military authorities at Steinamanger with him, pleading with Gen. Lehar, in command, for support. Gen. Lehar, however, refused.

Admiral Horthy is said to be convinced that the restoration of Charles would be a source of danger to Hungary. A large part of the Budapest garrison, as well as General Lehar's troops, are declared to be opposed to Charles' return.

The French, British and Italian high commissioners here held a conference after the ex-ruler's visit and the British commissioner, dean of the corps, went to the regent and reminded him of the opposition of the allies to the return of the Hapsburgs to power.

AUSTRIA GUARDS AGAINST CHARLES' ENTRY

VIENNA, March 30.—The Austrian government is taking every possible precaution to prevent former Emperor Charles from re-entering the country from Steinamanger, West Hungary, where he is reported to have taken refuge It is rumored, however, that semi-official statements that Charles is in Steinamanger are intended as a cloak to cover the fact that he already is en route to Switzerland.

Armed guards from various organizations have been stationed along the frontier to intercept the former Emperor should he attempt to recross into Austria. The armories of the association of former officers are under heavy guard to prevent the removal of arms and the homes of all generals in the old imperial army are under police surveillance.

It is reported a large number of officers of the old army are hurrying in groups to towns adjacent to Steinamanger

Meanwhile the "little entente" comprising Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania, has served notice on the Austrian government that troops will be marched into Austria at the slightest indication that former Emperor Charles is to be permitted to remain in the country

VIENNA NERVOUS OVER INTRIGUE

Uneasiness and nervousness prevail among all classes in Vienna, where it is generally recognized the situation is one of the utmost seriousness. The government announced today it would order an investigation into the manner in which Charles crossed Austro-Hungarian frontiers. This appears to have been done contrary to the first despatches sent to the chief of the "rulers arrival in Austria and his subsequent movements. It now appears he crossed Austrian territory Friday night and entered Hungary on Saturday

West Hungary is cut off from communication with the rest of Austria and despatches from Budapest give the only news of what is going on there. Alternative Is Menace Of Consolidation Plan

Ad Club Told County Division Will Be Result; Opposing Views by E. K. Taylor, Who Seeks To Minimize Danger.

Dangers which lurk in the alternative proposal to the Alameda County Consolidation plan were described and explained at length at a luncheon meeting of the Oakland Ad club at the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of The TRIBUNE, who was the speaker to sound the warning, described step by step and with careful attention to detail the unfavorable consequences that would follow submission of a consolidation charter in the alternative by the Board of Freeholders.

County division of the most unhappy sort is in the very essence of the alternative, Knowland told the club, predicting that when "the menace is actually upon the people that a long and persistent cry for help will be heard."

The warning against the alternative was answered in part by E. K. Taylor, of Alameda, whose talk tended to minimize the dangers of county dismemberment, while still recognizing the possibilities.

Harold Austin, president of the Ad Club, discussed the organization's attitude and reported a policy resolution by the club directors.

RESOLUTION NOT PASSED.

A week ago there was presented to the club a resolution favoring the borough system of charter as adopted by the freeholders and also approving the submission of the charter, when completed, in the alternative. This resolution the club refused to pass but referred it to the board of directors. Yesterday through Austin instead of reporting out the original resolution, the directors presented one of their own drawing in which they memorialized the club that any future resolutions upon any subject should be submitted to them, and advocated as club policy that the body should not take a stand upon controverted questions of public polity without recommendation of the directorate.

TEXT OF SPEECH

The text of the talk by Knowland before the club follows:

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Advertising Club. I believe that I would prove recreant to my dufy as a citizen, taxpayer and newspaper publisher of this community if I failed to point out what I regard as a very grave danger lurking in the so-called alternative proposal which it is within the power of the freeholders to include in connection with the charter for a consolidated city and county government which charter, under the law, they must submit. I am confident that I do not over-state or exaggerate the situation when I declare in all seriousness that the alternative proposal presents the greatest menace to the future of Alameda county that has threatened this community in years.

CO. WELFARE THREATENED

The expenditure of $100,000 of the taxpayers' money, which the present movement will cost, pales into insignificance when compared with the damage to the county which is likely to result if the alternative proposal is presented.

The freeholders, who are representative citizens consenting to act in a public capacity, must submit a charter for a consolidated city and county government embracing the entire county. It is hoped that in the performance of this duty they will frame the best instrument possible. It can at least be taken as a future model.

I am willing to wait for the charter which the Freeholders present, and as a citizen, and as publisher of The TRIBUNE, will consider it solely upon its merits if it embraces the entire county. If it contains the alternative proposal, which means a division of the county, I shall feel that in the interests of this community it should be strenuously opposed, as its defeat will be the only method of preventing the disintegration of the county.

If an alternative proposal could be placed upon the ballot at the same time as the general proposal, and calling, as an illustration, for the forming of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley into a separate borough, and the people given the opportunity of voting upon that alternative proposal, an adverse vote in any one of the three cities defeating, and a favorable vote in the three municipalities calling for the adoption of the plan for such lesser area, there could be but little objection. Unfortunately, however, the existing law prohibits this procedure. Instead a situation threatening the unity of the county exists which I will set forth.

COMPLICATED SUBJECT

The constitutional provision under which proceedings have been started is complicated, involved and subject to various interpretations, according to the opinion of many able lawyers who have carefully examined its text. As to the alternative proposal there appears to be a consensus of opinion upon several points. It is agreed that only a statement can be made on the ballot by the freeholders at the main election announcing that an alternative will be later submitted. There is no vote at such election on the alternative proposal. This alternative becomes operative only in the event of the defeat of the main proposition. Then another election is called.

No city can be named as "essential" unless it has a population of over 150,000. This eliminates all cities but Oakland. What is the situation then if the main proposition is defeated and the freeholders have given notice of an alternative proposal? Oakland must be included if it has voted favorably on the main proposition. The town of Emeryville and the city of Piedmont, regardless of the wishes of its citizens as expressed at the main election, must be included because they each have a population of less than 10,000, and would be detached from the balance of the county and, in addition, Piedmont is entirely surrounded by Oakland. The will of the majority will not prevail if either of these two municipalities

ALTERNATIVE PROPOSITIONS

If Alameda votes "no" on the main proposition that city must be omitted. Unless every sign fails Alameda will register a most emphatic "no." Berkeley likewise cannot be included in the alternative proposal if it votes "no" on the main proposition, and I have not found anyone with intimate knowledge of the Berkeley situation who ventures to predict that the College City will favor the main proposal. With the machinery all set up for a separate city and county of Berkeley, made possible under the amendment inserted at the last minute when the constitutional provision was pending before the legislature, there is an added incentive for that city to fail to approve the main proposal.

With Alameda and Berkeley eliminated the freeholders are compelled to proceed with the machinery for a separate city and county of Oakland. Proceedings cannot be stopped. It is true, as we frequently read, that the whole county, including of course Oakland, must pass upon the question of separation, but Oakland has 30,000 more registered votes than all the rest of the county combined. Berkeley, whose prospects for a separate city and county government depend upon a favorable vote for separation, would naturally join a majority of its thirty thousand votes to those of Oakland in favor of such separation.

COUNTY DIVISION

Some argue that in the event that proceedings began for a separate city and county of Oakland that the voters of this city would themselves not approve. I am not so sure. Mayor Davie has repeatedly urged such procedure. I hold in my hand a pamphlet in which the Mayor sets forth the many advantages, in his opinion, of such a separate unit.

The moment that Oakland forms its own city and county government, Berkeley is then free, without the consent of the balance of the county, to proceed with its plan for a separate city and county government, thanks to the amendment to the act which was inserted by citizens of that city. I have always admired the frankness of Mayor Bartlett and other citizens of that community. They have never promised to favor a consolidated city and county government embracing the entire county, always declaring that their city occupied a most advantageous position. The thought has undoubtedly always been in mind that only through the submission of a plan for a general city and county government charter, with its probable defeat, could Berkeley break away and form a separate county.

BERKELEY PLANS.

On the day following the recent election of freeholders, the leading candidate against Mayor Bartlett, apparently not to be outdone by his opponent, went before the city council with a plan calling for a separate city and county government of Berkeley. I hold in my hand a clipping, not from The TRIBUNE, but from the San Francisco Examiner of September, 1920, showing the plan of Berkeley at that date.

It reads as follows:

"Annexation may come as the result of the movement on foot in Oakland for a consolidation of the entire Eastbay region into a city and county government. Berkeley, through the freeholders' election and the turning down of the subsequent issue of consolidation, may then proceed with its own city and county merger."

If the formation of the city and county of Oakland cuts Alameda off from the balance of the county, as some contend, that city can be joined, by legislative act, to the city and county of San Francisco. On April 10, 1911, Alameda voted in favor of consolidation with San Francisco under the borough system by a substantial majority. It is held by some authorities that there is a narrow strip toward Bay Farm Island connecting Alameda with Eden township and that as a result Alameda would be compelled to become a part of that upcountry portion of Alameda county remaining after Oakland and Berkeley are cut off.

ALAMEDA CUT OFF.

Of course it lies within the power of the freeholders in order to enlarge the boundaries of the new city and county of Oakland, and such enlargement would be along natural and logical lines, to include part of the unincorporated territory in Eden township, and in that event Alameda would unquestionably be cut off and could join with San Francisco. Even should Alameda remain attached to the remaining upcountry portions of Alameda county it could still, under provisions of the constitution, and through legislative act, separate and join with San Francisco.

UP COUNTRY DISTRICT.

The status of the upcountry district, Eden, Murray, Washington and Pleasanton townships, would be problematical. Under certain lines which the freeholders could draw, Murray might be so cut off that it would be forced to join San Joaquin county. When the separation took place and the burdens became too heavy for the remaining districts to carry in these various townships, they could, under Section 3 of Article XI of the constitution, join with contiguous counties. A thousand problems present themselves contingent on a division of the county. County road-building for Oakland automobilists; the disposition of county institutions and the erection of necessary new buildings are all live questions that start the thoughtful to thinking.

OAKLAND INJURED.

Oakland, with the county divided into various units, will no longer be the commercial center of this rich and growing county. It is a question vital to every Oakland business man and to all sections of the county.

Personally I am content to sound a warning. If there are those who feel that undue alarm is expressed and that no danger lurks in the alternative proposal, I am satisfied to wait for justification, but predict that when the menace is actually upon the people that a long and persistent cry for help will be heard, mass meetings called and the press appealed to for aid.

E. K. TAYLOR SPEAKS

E. K. Taylor spoke as follows on the "Consolidation Plan in the Alternative":

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: Your Chairman thanks us for coming to this meeting. There should be no necessity of people residing in Alameda county coming to Oakland. They should be in the county and not have to come over a bridge and come from other sections of the county to be treated as outsiders, because, in fact, territorially and in every other respect, excepting in the matter a county charter, we are in one community. We are governed by a charter, county charter, designed, framed, and made before any generation in this hall was born, in 1849, in the first Constitution, and subsequently amended by the Legislature, and never once amended by the people who are governed by it.

Your charter, I say, is an ancient document, framed many, many years ago. Some few years ago, some citizens of Oakland and citizens throughout the county conceived the idea that they could provide a better system of county government. They had the example of San Francisco and Los Angeles, and several eastern cities, and they held meetings extending over a long period of time, and finally found it was necessary to have constitutional amendments in order to accomplish the result. They were proposed to the Legislature, adopted by it by a majority vote, and adopted by the people of the State of California by a majority vote.

FREEHOLDERS WORK

Under the provision, the Freeholders duly elected—and there was no opposition—have an opportunity to present a charter for general adoption by the vote of all the cities and the counties, first, if any one of those cities should reject and refuse to combine, then the Freeholders must give notice at the first election—providing that some of those cities decide they do not wish to be hampered by those who are not willing to form a consolidated government (confederated, to be more accurate), they may provide this alternate proposition, whereby if the essential city, Oakland, shall decide it wants to have a new form of county government, it may not be impeded by the rest of the county. And in that case, the essential city, Oakland, and such other cities voting favorably to the movement, shall be given the opportunity again to put up a charter, with certain amendments as to districts, and as to whether or not they will form a separate government, which vote also is to be submitted to the entire vote of the county.

MAJORITY VOTE

True, it is, that the majority of the vote resides in the city of Oakland. Now, the only opposition concrete that I have observed to this alternative proposition is the statement published in The TRIBUNE not long ago that county division is absolutely certain unless the Freeholders refrain from putting the alternative proposition on the ballot. That implies that the first proposition will be defeated by a majority vote. It implies that the city of Oakland, by its majority, will vote to secede from the county. That implies that the majority of all the voters of Alameda county shall consent thereto, that the assembly shall also consent, that the senate of the state of California, by majority, shall also consent. And we are asking—assuming now that all those things will happen, assuming the defeat of the main proposition, and that Oakland should vote to go out, and that the county should go out—we are asking those Freeholders, and eight of them will be a majority, to deprive a majority of the people of this county from deciding what kind of government they wish to frame. Assume the city of Oakland and county of Alameda by a majority will vote to separate. Why should we say that the majority have not a right so to do? Why should we who want to walk stop the chariot of progress of the city of Oakland? Twenty-three thousand voters signed a petition to call this election—23,000—and we have 161 and some odd thousand registered voters in the county. One-seventh of the voting population of the county of Alameda started this movement. Shall we say to that 23,000, "twenty-three, skiddo; it is back to the paddock for you"? In which it is said by the eight that you shall not have the right of self-expression, you shall not even vote on this question; you shall not debate upon it? Assume the proposition is submitted and Oakland votes "no." What is gained? Have they lost something in calling that election? No. But that we have preserved the right of American people to express by majority their wish, and that is worth the amount of money which will be expended on that election.

PROGRESS COMPARED

Concede that the city of Oakland has decided it shall not be hampered by little country communities; the country is slow, it likes to be slow; the country likes no change; the gates are off the hinges; they lived in the dust until the cities went down and built roads for them, and where formerly they hauled with eight horses, they now haul with two.

The city of Oakland and the majority of the people in this county want to go ahead—and I believe it is absolutely essential to the development of this section by a county division, although it might be calamitous to all those who are left out; why should my personal preference or my personal interests in the county of Alameda stop the progress of Oakland? Don't you know that there never has been a large city, in ancient times or existing today, excepting those cities which were founded upon rivers, upon great lakes or upon the salt seashore? I believe that the time will come, and that not far distant, when the city of Oakland, situated as it is on San Francisco bay and in touch with four great continental railroads, will not only be one of the greatest commercial cities on the Pacific coast, but the largest city. Why should Piedmont, with 700 votes, why should Alameda, why should Livermore, with 600 votes, prevent the city of Oakland from carrying out and following out its destiny? If it is true now they have the right so to stop the progress of Oakland, it will be true next year, it will be true ten years from now. It will be true when all of you are as bald and as gray-headed as I am. The principle will be the same. We may as well meet the proposition now. If it costs a little money now, let that argument be used; in the course of time, if they don't accomplish the purpose now, they will later on.

Wife Gets Divorce And $125 Alimony

Mrs. Louise Rogers was given a divorce from Attorney Antone Rogers and $125 a month alimony by Superior Judge J. C. Quinn today on her cross-complaint charging neglect and failure to provide.

Rogers had brought suit against Mrs. Rogers for divorce, charging that she had deserted him. In her answer and cross-complaint the wife declared that the attorney had failed to provide for her and sued for a divorce, alimony and custody of the children, Thelma, aged 16, and Antone Jr., aged 13 years.

The couple were married December 11, 1901, at San Leandro and separated December 26, 1915.

Man Adjudged Insane On Wife's Complaint

George G. Gage, son of the late Stephen T. Gage of the Southern Pacific legal staff, was committed to the Agnews state hospital today by Superior Court Judge Parker.

That Gage was under the delusion that Eugene V. Debs and Thomas Mooney were confined in the jail at San Francisco were some of the charges made against him by Dr. D. D. Crowley, the Gage family physician.

Gage was arrested last night at Anderson's sanitarium on a warrant sworn to by Mrs. Etta Gage, his wife.

Store and Homes Entered and Robbed

Confronted with the report of an additional store burglary and several house robberies, police today redoubled their efforts to capture a band of thieves who, they believe, are responsible for the large number of thefts during the past week.

Entering through a hole in the rear of the building, thieves last night entered the store of William Sick, 806 Franklin street and carried away several articles of merchandise.

George Lamones, 1291 Eighth street, reported to the police that during the night someone entered his room and stole $250 in Liberty bonds, a watch, some clothing a revolver and some stock certificates.

Thieves entered the home of L. C. Brun, 428 Twenty-third street, last night and stole a Kodak and several dollars, in change. Entrance was made through a window.

Chief Thompson To Enforce Dance Law

Orders cautioning all district captains and patrolmen to see that the ordinance prohibiting dancing in poolrooms and soft drink parlors in the vicinity of Oakland schools is enforced, were issued this morning by Police Chief Fenton G. Thompson. The orders were issued following the receipt at police headquarters of several reports that soft drink parlors and poolrooms located near several city schools were conducting public d. es.

SALARIES BILL UP TO GOVERNOR FOR SIGNATURE

Amendments to the Alameda County Government Act Approved By Senate.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 30. — The Alameda county government bill and the county librarian bill, carrying increases in the salaries of county officers and employees, is now up to the governor for signature.

Amendments to the former, providing for the increased salary to the supervisors, have been concurred in by the Senate, and the latter has passed both houses without change.

Senator Edwin M. Otis brought both matters to the Senate's attention.

The bill to protect toyon bushes, a measure in which a number of Alameda county persons have taken a leading interest, has been halted temporarily in the Senate on objection from Senator H. C. Nelson of Eureka. Nelson says that in his county there are thousands of acres of the berries, and that he does not agree that a law should make it a misdemeanor for any of his constituents to gather them for decorative purposes or even for the market. The bill was passed on the file in the hope that an amendment might be drafted to suit the northern senator.

The last one of a series of bills designed to alter the compensation act and introduced by Assembly Gilbert Jones of Oakland was defeated in the Assembly by a close vote. This bill would allow the commission to reduce the amount of compensation of any injured man in any case in which it was shown that the injured employee failed to report the injury immediately to his employer, or failed to avail himself of medical treatment offered him by the employer. It is filed as Assembly bill 607.

Senate To Decide On Budget Problem

SACRAMENTO, March 30. — The Senate is to decide today upon its findings in the matter of the budget investigation which closed on Monday. It will pass upon the question as to whether the budget board was justified in recommending appropriations for the next two years aggregating $81,000, and determine how closely the recommendations of the board will be followed.

In the Assembly, West's osteopathy bill is likely to be taken up for final action, and votes are scheduled on reconsideration of four bills by Assemblyman Gilbert L. Jones to amend the workmen's compensation act. Two of these bills were passed and two defeated on the original votes.

Graves' Franchise Bill Reported Out

SACRAMENTO, March 30. — The assembly committee on public utilities last night reported out for passage a bill by Sidney T. Graves of Los Angeles for granting indeterminate franchises for corporations. A similar bill was defeated in the last hours of the 1919 session. The committee made a number of amendments which were accepted by Graves.

Opposition on Larger Area For Navy Base to Dwindle

By AD B. SCHUSTER

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 30.—Threats of opposition to the bill to deed lands within San Francisco county and adjoining the Alameda naval base site to the government are expected to dwindle before the public hearing which is set for Friday night. At that time representatives of the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce, the Oakland chamber and other organizations will have a chance to talk, and the whole situation will be gone over in detail.

The expected opposition to the introduction of the bill did not materialize when the compromise of a public hearing was offered and the bill is now on file. This means that a majority vote will carry the measure, and the proponents have little doubt as to the outcome.

FROM NAVY DEPARTMENT.

A reason for the belief that the contest will not be so bitter as is today prophesied is that the opponents have not all the facts in hand, and are laboring under the idea that the whole matter was cooked up as a political move to put the legislature on record as favoring one site over another. It will be shown that the request for the action came direct from the navy department and that, in addition, the government has all along taken the position that it would need the San Francisco lands. In the appropriation bill before congress this particular strip was mentioned.

NEED STRONG DEFENSES.

Proponents of the bill say that its passage will not have any bearing on the argument over the appropriation, but that any man who opposes it will be in the position of blocking the federal program for defense and of refusing a request of the naval department. They point out that Senator Inman and others who are leading the opposition are also leaders in the campaign which declares that the next war will be on the Pacific and that the strongest coast defenses and equipment should be supplied.

"We want to know who gave Admiral Halstead his instructions," said James J. Hogan, president of the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce, today. "We want to know where the letter came from, and if it is or is not propaganda."

Hogan, Senator Ben Rush of Suisun and Assemblyman Robert McPherson of Vallejo are the leading opponents of the bill.

ACTION DELAYED ON FILM 'REVIEW'

SACRAMENTO, March 30.—After a hot contest, the Senate judiciary committee last night deferred final action until next Tuesday night on Senator Eden's bill to create a state board of review of motion pictures. The decision came after a parliamentary wrangle in which Senator Lyon's motion to lay the measure on the table was lost three to seven.

Professor H. D. Gray of Stanford University, a member of the National Board of Review, explained the terms of the measure which would create a board comprised of the state superintendent of public instruction and eight other members nominated by the state board of education and appointed by the governor. The board would name committees of "intelligent, discriminating and respected" citizens to pass upon the pictures.

Gray said censorship was not contemplated, but only notice to the public of offerings of merit. Experience had proven, he said, that "making a film taboo" attracted crowds to see it.

Senator Dennett criticised "vulgarity and filth" of current motion picture productions, but said the industry itself must correct the evil or "face the fate of the saloon."

Senator Lyon said the measure was "nonsensical" and that the industry was learning from experience that certain pictures should not be produced.

Senator Chamberlin led the movement for postponement of action, in view of the fact that producers were said not to have had sufficient notice of the hearing.

BANKING POOL TO HELP CHINA GETS HUGHES' APPROVAL

Open Door Policy of John Hay Laid Down For Progress of Orient.

WASHINGTON, March 30. — The principle involved in the effort of the American bankers, in co-operation with bankers of France, Great Britain and Japan, to encourage American interests in the assistance of China through the international group known as the Chinese Consortium, has the approval of the United States, Secretary Hughes informed J. P. Morgan & Co.

In giving approval of the Harding Administration, Secretary Hughes declared for "equality of commercial and industrial opportunity" to industrial enterprises of all nationalities in China, a statement which was regarded as a reaffirmation of the John Hay policy of the open door.

Since the conclusion of the consortium, however, China has shown no disposition to accept it.

John Burroughs Called Back

By EDWIN MARKHAM

(Copyright, 1921, by International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 30.—Edwin Markham, famous American poet, author of "The Man With the Hoe," at the request of the International News Service, today penned the following touching lines in honor of John Burroughs, widely known naturalist, whose death occurred yesterday. The poem reads:

JOHN BURROUGHS CALLED BACK

In glorious hour the great soul passed,
And he will find his own at last.
Upon the edge of April, while
The earth is quickening, mile on mile.
His young soul, thrilled by the mystic breath,
Goes singing thru the doors of Death;
He who was comrade to the herds,
He who was brother to the birds,
He who had all the flowers for friends,
Has gone the road that never ends.

Crowned with his gold lore, he goes,
While earth is dreaming of the rose;
And, as he passes, he can hear,
The far song of the flowering year.
While grasses hurry into earth,
He rises to his higher birth,
Where Audubon and Jeffries are.
Exploring Nature in their star
Where Ruskin, lover of old roads,
And Turner, have their bright abodes.
He goes, and 'round his head is hurled
The April vision of the world;
He carries, as his feet depart,
The warm love of the whole world's heart.

BURROUGHS WILL BE BURIED ON HIS 84TH BIRTHDAY

Old Friends Will Attend Ceremony At Place Where Naturalist Was Born.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 30.—John Burroughs, famous naturalist, who died yesterday on a train enroute home from California, will be buried Sunday, the day on which he would have been 84 years of age, at Roxbury in the Catskills, near the spot where he was born.

Funeral services, which will be simple and private, according to his own wish, are to be held Saturday afternoon at his West Park home.

Thomas A. Edison, Henry Ford and Harvey S. Firestone, for several years past Burroughs' camp companions, will attend the funeral.

WILL PAY DEATH PENALTY

CHICAGO, March 30.—Harry H. Ward, 23, who last summer shot and killed two men, wounded a third and hit a policeman with a hammer, all as the outcome of an attempt to hold up a hat store, today was sentenced to be hanged April 22.

The Ice Cream Fight—No. 6

How the Trust Regulates Prices

For fifteen years the Miller Creamery Company has been fighting to give the public a high quality ice cream at as low a price to the customer as is consistent with quality and service.

The Miller Creamery Company has sold its product at a fair profit to itself, refusing to increase prices at the trust's behest, believing firmly in the right of the individual to sell his goods at whatever price he chooses so long as the public gets honest values and has the opportunity of knowing exactly what it is buying.

The public, which has given an increasing patronage to Miller's Quality Ice Cream, knows that it has been buying a superior article, but it does not know that it would pay a greatly increased price for the trust product if Miller's was forced out of business.

Where the Ice Cream Trust is in control—in such cities as Sacramento, Stockton and San Jose—the wholesale price of ice cream is 25 cents a gallon higher than in Oakland, Berkeley, and Alameda, where competition is offered by the Miller Creamery Company.

In the trust territory—across the street from one of the many Ice Cream Trust plants—is a dealer. He is paying 40 cents a gallon more to the trust for ice cream than dealers buying the same quantity as far away as Vacaville. The Vacaville dealers receive the same icing and cabinet service, and have their ice cream delivered by motor trucks from the same plant as the dealer who is paying 40 cents a gallon more—and who can step across the street to buy his ice cream at the plant.

Vacaville, and other Solano County ice cream dealers, buy for 40 cents a gallon less because there is competition in Solano County—offered by an independent concern with sufficient money and ability to fight the trust.

The buying public has a right to the low prices which result from active competition. Prices will go up in Alameda County if the Ice Cream Trust succeeds in putting the Miller Company out of business—"no matter how much money it costs."

If you believe in fair play insist on Miller's Quality Ice Cream.

BRITISH CAPTAIN SAYS JAPANESE ARE DEPORTED

Australian Cruiser Said To Have Removed Colonists Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—Five hundred Japanese, who had established a colony on the shores of Anson bay in Northern Australia, were recently summarily deported from there by an Australian cruiser and put back on the shores of the mikado's empire, according to a story brought here today by Captain T. E. Hill of the British steamer Waimarino, which arrived late yesterday.

According to Captain Hill, the Japanese had established a colony there, setting up their own schools and were entering the fishing and pearl industries on a basis that was ruinous to the Australian activities.

The mass deportation which Captain Hill describes was effected after repeated protests on the part of the white inhabitants of Anson bay.

Tunnel Workers Meet With Contractors

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Owing to the fact tht labor conditions had made it necessary for the Construction Company of North America to sub-let contracts, which could not be broken, the hopes of union leaders to re-establish the Tunnel Men's union at Groveland in among the Hetch-Hetchy workmen, did not materialize yesterday at the conference held in the city hall.

The labor difficulties making the sub-letting of contracts necessary, grew out of a strike last August. The conference yesterday was called at the request of strikers and union leaders by Supervisor Edward I. Wolfe. There were about 20 of the original strikers present, as well as a number of city officials and representatives of the Construction Company of North America, the Hetch-Hetchy and other interested organizations. It developed that no new contract could be entered into by the company until the sub-contracts which were let to A. C. Dennis and D. D. De Lucca, expired.

Veteran Would Cut 'G. C.' From Bergdoll's Name

HELENA, Ark., March 30.—Richard L. Kitchen Post No. 41, Amerieen Legion, adopted a resolution unanimously by vote here last night requesting the United States government to take steps to remove the words "Grover Cleveland" from the name of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious draft evader, now a refugee in Germany, provided any American court had jurisdiction in the matter.

ARTISTS' BENEFIT MATINEE FRIDAY

Friday afternoon, April 8, the entire proceeds from Oakland vaudeville theaters, as well as the receipts from over 800 such theaters throughout the country will be turned over to the National Vaudeville Artists' association to be added to the insurance fund of the Artists' association.

This will be the second annual benefit for the artists. Always the first to respond when aid is needed for stricken or distressed humanity, the artists are now to receive a bit of assistance from the public they serve. One year ago an insurance fund was created with the idea of giving every member of the association a paid-up policy for $1000. The funds derived this year will be devoted to this purpose.

At the Oakland Orpheum, Pantages and Loew's theater, where vaudeville artists appear, some additional setunts and special features will be offered in connection with the regular program for this event.

To the vaudeville artist, on tour, many miles from home, sickness or accident means something more serious than it does to the average worker who can be cared for in his own home. Expenses are greater, proper care more difficult to secure and the ownership of a paid policy, for $1000, such as is planned with the proceeds of N. V. A. day will mean much in the life of the performer.

Noted Surgeon To Be Guest in Oakland

General J. M. T. Finney, clinical professor of surgery in Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, who comes to California as a speaker before the California Academy of Medicine in San Francisco next month, has announced that he will make a careful inspection of the work in the Alameda County Public Health Center which has attracted large attention throughout the east.

The Alameda County Medical association is arranging a luncheon in honor of General Finney at Hotel Oakland on Tuesday, April 12, affording an opportunity to the local medical profession to meet the distinguished surgeon.

General Finney was in charge of the surgical work that was done in France by the American medical service. The important operation known as the "Finney operation," is called after him.

Woman Catches Man After Long Chase

Arrested after being chased for more than two blocks by the wife of a man he is alleged to have beaten, Senese Recardo is held in the city prison today on a charge of battery. Mrs. Benjamin Brown, 13 Broadway, chased Recardo for more than two blocks until he was finally arrested by Patrolman S. S. Britt. According to the story told by the woman, Recardo, when refused a room in her lodging house, pummeled her husband. When she appeared on the scene he fled.

Recardo, according to police, is an escape from the county hospital, where he was under treatment while under arrest charged with disturbing the peace, preferred some time ago by Mrs. Brown.

Doctor Takes Bullet From Convict's Brain

OSSINING, N. Y., March 30.—A bullet was removed from a man's brain in an unusual operation in the Sing Sing prison hospital. Dr. W. L. Chapman of Brooklyn performed the operation in an attempt to cure insanity in Roman Leondowski, a prisoner.

The presence of two bullets in the patient's brain was disclosed by X-ray examination, the one removed being embedded almost two inches, while the other was lodged behind the right ear. When the first bullet had been extracted, Dr. Chapman endeavored to remove the other, which, however, was found to be lodged solidly in the tissue. After a consultation of several physicians it was decided not to touch it. The incision then was closed and the patient regained consciousness.

"Where am I?" was the prisoner's first question. Told he was in Sing Sing prison and that the operation was successful, he was then asked how he felt.

"I'm feeling great," he replied.

U. S. NEEDED IN NATIONS' LEAGUE SAYS JAPANESE

Even Moral Support Would Assist Body in Accomplishing Good.

That the United States can aid the League of Nations and help it to function by merely giving its moral support is the declaration of Dr. Minoru Oka, dean of agriculture of the University of Tokyo, who arrived in San Francisco today en route to Washington. He declared that the league could not function 100 per cent perfect if the United States did not join. He believed that by its moral support it could do a great service.

Oka is a representative of the special committee of the League of Nations which meets at Geneva in June to prepare plans to be submitted to the league in September providing for a League of Nations with the United States as a member, and for a League of Nations with the United States not a member.

The plans will include provisions whereby the enforcement of a blockade can be accomplished against any one nation which breaks from the league, or which fails to live up to the contract. Two plans for the complete formation of the league will be presented, Oka said, to be accepted or rejected by the main body in September. One plan will incorporate the United States as a member. This plan will be completed first. The second plan, to be considered in case the United States fails to become a member, will be drawn up to be used as the alternative.

Oka declared that the League of Nations could not function 100 per cent unless the United States becomes a member. He declared that he believed the United States could do its share toward maintaining the league, although not a member, by lending her moral support, which would make her an unofficial member, not required to observe the league's constitution.

Oka will go to Washington to confer with Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state, and the Japanese ambassador. Oka is accompanied on his mission by his secretary, Kihuye Ojina.

CHICK BROODER CONVERTED INTO HOME FOR BOOKS

A library housed in a chicken brooder was shown to a class in library science from the university on a round of the branches of the county library today.

The "chicken coop library," as it is called by residents of the vicinity, is maintained in the chicken brooder of Mrs. J. A. Due on Castro Hill, near Castro Valley. Formerly it was housed in a private home, the occupants of which moved away. Mrs. Due offered her chicken brooder, saying she had ceased to use it. It has a wire front with a canvas curtain, which is lowered at night, a door with upper and lower sections and no plastering on the interior. The books are kept in glass cases to prevent injury from dampness.

Woman Wielder of Knife Sentenced

Mrs. Emma Williams, 515 Grove street, was given her choice of paying $30 or serving 15 days in the city jail when she appeared before Judge Edward Tyrrell in police court this morning to receive her sentence, after pleading guilty to a charge of battery. Mrs. Williams, it is alleged, stabbed Mrs. Rose Lee in the arm with a butcher knife during a quarrel on the front porch of the defendant's home.

She was arrested and pleaded guilty yesterday.

Hear Gabrilowitsch Tonight
The Artrio Angelus

Among the truly great of the world's pianists no name is more loved, no art more appreciated than that of Ossip Gabrilowitsch. His mastery of the piano, his poetic readings of the greatest composers has placed him among the few super-artists of all time.

For the Artrio Angelus, Gabrilowitsch has recorded many of his finest interpretations, thus testifying to Angelus infallibility and Angelus perfection of reproduction.

Harold Bauer, Tina Lerner, Godowsky and many others entrust gladly their art to this greatest of all players. We would like you to hear it—any time.

BRITTON TELLS PROPOSED POWER DEVELOPMENT

Manager of P. G. and E. Says Vast Expenditure Required To Meet Demands.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—The necessity for the development of the power resources of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company were portrayed by John A. Britton, vice-president and general manager, who occupied the stand throughout the morning session of the State Railroad Commission today. One of the disclosures made by Britton was that, whereas there were but 73,509 consumers of electricity served by the Pacific system in 1910, there were now 266,132, an average gain of 19,342 consumers a year.

In addition he showed that the connected load on the company's system, including motors for industrial concerns and agricultural pumping and reclamation, as well as the general commercial lighting, aggregated 925,818 horsepower in 1920, 78 per cent of the total installed capacity being taken up in the bay district. He estimated that from the developments on the Pit river, which could reasonably be made in the next ten years an additional 460,000 horsepower on the Pacific system alone would be added to the already existing plants of the company, making a total of 563,673 horsepower of hydro-electric energy and 156,836 horsepower of steam generated energy.

BIG INCREASE FIGURED

"Reasoning from the increase of consumers and increase in connected load in the past ten years," continued Britton, "I estimate that the peak demand on the company's plant in 1930 will aggregate 570,000 horsepower, and it is to meet this estimated growth that the company is now entering upon an extensive and intensive development of the Pit river, where there will be eventually installed more than 400,000 horsepower. The agriculturists of our section now demand 141,192 horsepower, the industries 439,907, and commercial lighting and incidental power 344,719.

"These figures indicate that agricultural increased from 21,933 horsepower in 1910 to 141,192 horsepower in 1920; industries increased from 156,672 horsepower in 1910 to 439,907 in 1920, and commercial lighting and incidental power increased from 107,466 in 1910 to 344,719 horsepower in 1920."

DEVELOPMENT SHOWN

Britton further presented charts showing the extent of hydro-electric power development and how it had developed the resources of the Western states in water power, indicating that the Pacific slope produced an income to power companies of $11.17 per capita as against the Atlantic states $8.24, the New England states $6.82, the Central states $5.52. He showed that the consumption of kilowat hours per capita in 1919 was 673, against the Atlantic states 363, Central states 271, and New England states 254.

The witness demonstrated that the cause of the development, retarded somewhat during the war period, the statistics obtained through the various regulatory bodies and from other data, established the fact that the Pacific coast states are selling energy to their consumers at a lower cost than any others in the Union. The average for 1919 shows: Pacific coast states, $0.0166; Central states, $0.0204; Atlantic states, $0.0228; New England states, $0.0293, per kilowat hour.

DEMANDS ESTIMATED

Further, it was shown that Pacific coast consumers used 6.75 times as much hydro-electric energy per capita as all the other states in the Union. The direct benefit to the consumers by the installation of hydro-electric power plants and the diminishing of energy served by means of steam plants was carefully pointed out.

Figures were also presented by Britton indicating the total amount that would be required by his company in the next ten years to meet the demands of its electric service. He estimated that to bring in the Pitt river power of 400,000 horsepower would require $77,000,000, and that to care for the distribution to the consumers of this power in ten years would cost an additional $56,500,000, or a total of $133,500,000, which would have to be raised to keep pace with the estimated demands based on the company's past requirements.

At this afternoon's session the surcharge of 25 per cent, which is asked for by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and against which a protest is scheduled to be levied by all of the municipalities it serves, was taken up. The protestants were headed by Assistant City Attorney Leon Gray of Oakland.

City Attorney Hagan today received notice that the Railroad Commission has set the hearing of the Great Western Power Company concerning surcharges one day ahead. The hearing will now be held April 4. Unless the power company proves that the surcharge is still necessary it expires April 10.

Stage Hearing Is Put Over To April 19

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Word was received today by County Clerk J. H. Wells that the Railroad Commission has postponed a hearing on the application of the Western Motors Transport Company for permission to route a stage line over the Tunnel highway until Tuesday, April 19. The hearing will be held in Antioch. It was originally scheduled to be held Thursday.

Much opposition has developed to the company's application to use the Tunnel route and it will be rigidly opposed by the Board of Supervisors and District Attorney A. B. Tinning. Danger to traffic is one of the main points expressed by the opposition.

Citizenship Is Denied 5 Who Dodged Service

Judge Welch Says No To Men Who Claimed Exemption.

SAN JOSE, March 30.—Five men who claimed exemption during the war on the ground that they were aliens, were denied naturalization when their citizenship applications came up in the superior court before Judge J. R. Welch and F. S. Becker, naturalization examiner.

Those denied admission were:

Rocco Morello, Pilade Vannucci, Mathius Stonitsch, Viaho Ivo Talic, and Anton Doll. Silvio Sciariel, who had been admitted at a former hearing, appeared in court to answer to charges of having also claimed exemption on the grounds of being an alien. His naturalization was cancelled as soon as this fact was established.

Those admitted to citizenship include the following: James Courtney Hanes, Archibald William Leaman, Salvatore Albanese, Patrick Ryan, Percy George Newport, Anton Kristoffer Hansen, Mario Joseph Rosingana, Frank Machado Rodrigues, known as Frank Machado Rogers, Demetrio Diaz, Thomas William Wilcon, Vincente Guglluzza (name changed to Guluzza), John Mary Labrucherie, Carl Schmitt, Nikola Josip Viskovich, John Miller, Karl Richard Friedrich (name changed to Karl Richard Fredericks), Paul Battista Esigno, Rocco Zolta, Frank Bianco.

DEATH PENALTY FOR AFFINITY SLAYERS URGED

CHICAGO, March 30.—Death for affinity slayers instead of a gay career in the spotlight was advocated today by Arthur Burrage Farwell, reformer militant.

"Too many women and girls have been murdering the men they have been living with when they make up their minds to get a new meal ticket," said Farwell.

"I'm not upholding the men who lead such lives. They are the scum of the earth. But murder is murder and the women who slay them should be punished by death.

"The time should pass when they show a trim ankle to the jury and smile their way to freedom. Put good women on juries and these giggling murderers will get their dues."

Oakland Milk Bureau Praised By Expert

A formal letter to Commissioner Morse recommending improvements in the Oakland milk inspection bureau was sent today by Dr. John S. Hay, market milk specialist of the State Department of agriculture, as a result of his recent visit to Oakland.

Dr. Hay says the scoring "reflects in a most creditable manner the quality of work achieved by the Oakland inspection force," and he approves of the methods and work of the Oakland bureau. Equipment, however, is below par, according to Dr. Hay, who suggests that the following be installed:

A new ice cabinet, a hot air oven three times larger than the present one, and a new centrifuge machine equipped with steam and hot water attachments.

Dr. Hay also suggests that a larger number of milk samples be taken in inspecting the dairies.

Attorney Denies He Spkoe Against Judge

Attorney T. L. Christensen, who will appear before Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure April 6, to show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court, denied today that he had advised his client, Edward Landi, to disobey the order of the judge.

Judge St. Sure's order was issued after Bailiff P. R. McCabe had sworn to an affidavit charging that Christensen had advised Landi not to appear in court and had told his client: "Keep away from St. Sure's court. Come to my office. You have a big bunch against you." This occurred December 5, according to the affidavit.

KU KLUX KLAN PLOT IS FOILED BY BOY'S STORY

'Murder Plantation' Evidence Points Toward Killing Of 11 Men.

COVINGTON, Ga., March 30.—A "Ku Klux Klan" conspiracy to arouse hatred between whites and blacks was frustrated when a white boy bared the entire plot to authorities, it was believed here today. The unnamed youth was carefully guarded in the county jail as officials feared violence might result from the intense feeling in certain quarters because of his supposed confession.

Baring of the plot added evidence in the prosecution of John S. Williams, alleged king of a "murder plantation," who is suspected of the murder of eleven colored men. The story implicated Williams' three sons, Julius, Huland and Marvin, it was said.

According to investigators, the story of the plot with details as to Williams' alleged implication in it, was told by the youth to the Newton county grand jury.

Letters circulated throughout Jasper and Newton counties, warning white residents that colored men were "coming for vengeance," also were placed before the grand jury, it was understood. Circulation of the letters was an alleged attempt to arouse sympathy with Williams. Failing in this, it was charged, his friends had planned to stage huge demonstrations in this neighborhood to give the impression that colored men were rebelling and thereby create sentiment for Williams.

Farm Products Show Boosted by Hayward C. of C.

Joint Meeting of Chamber and Show Organization Scheduled Friday.

HAYWARD, March 30.—Notices of the joint session of the local Chamber of Commerce and the Farm Products Show organization planned for this coming Friday evening at the town hall are in the hands of members of both groups today. Every effort is being made to insure a large attendance, especially as the last meeting called for the consideration of the coming Farm Products Show was adjourned for lack of sufficient members to warrant the introduction of plans for this future event. At the same meeting other matters of community interest will come before the local representative body, among which will be a discussion of the financing of the Poultry Housing and Feeding demonstration under construction here.

Relative to the recent work of the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the poultry demonstration, a late report shows that the work is well under way and that the actual construction of the specified buildings has been begun. The questions that have arisen concerning the food supplies have been dealt with in accordance with the best interests of the local feed men, as well as the poultry demonstration. The principal matter of vital interest at the present time concerns the financing of the project and it is hoped that the meeting Friday night and the reports of the work so far accomplished will serve to stimulate interest in its furtherance and maintenance.

DEATH PENALTY, 15 YEARS OLD, IS COMMUTED

MANILA, P. I., March 30.—Three death sentences were commuted, two to life imprisonment and one to fourteen years by the supreme court here today in the cases of three Filipinos convicted of the murder of four American teachers on the island of Cebu fifteen years ago. A fourth defendant died recently. Reviewing the case, the court said:

"Armed with shotguns, four Filipinos fired from ambush upon the Americans, two of whom fell wounded and the other attempted to escape. The assailants followed and put them to death, and then returned to beat to death the wounded men, despite the cries of the victims for mercy. The assailants stripped the victims of their clothing and stole all their valuables."

The murdered Americans were Ernest Heger, John A. Wells, Louis A. Thomas and Clyde O. France.

Mrs. Robert O. Reynolds

"I have actually gained twenty-five pounds and I just think Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world," said Mrs. Robert O. Reynolds, 127 North Denver St., Kansas City, Mo.

"For ten long years I suffered from a very bad form of rheumatism, stomach and nervous troubles. My appetite was very poor. What little I did eat soured on my stomach and I suffered the most severe pains in my back, hips and shoulders. My rheumatism was so bad that I could not raise my hands to comb my hair and my arms hurt me to my fingertips. I became so weak and run down that I lost all my energy and life had become almost a burden. I tried many things but nothing helped me.

"I had only taken my first bottle of Tanlac when I noticed my appetite was improving and I could sleep better at night. I have taken three bottles and the way it has helped me and built me up is really astonishing. I can eat anything and everything without the slightest disagreeable after-effects. I sleep just fine at night and am in better health than I have been for years. I am glad to give this statement, hoping that any who are suffering as I did may experience the same wonderful results, which I believe they will if they give Tanlac a fair trial."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley by The Owl Drug Company Stores and Eberly's Pharmacy, Alameda. — Advertisement.

Forest Service To Give Exhibition

Opening next Monday, the forest service of the United States Department of Agriculture will present for the public and primarily for the school children an educational exhibit of the work of the forest service, including the phase of the work handled by the forest air patrol.

The exhibit will continue at the auditorium for three weeks, from April 4 to April 24. Paul J. Fair, technician formerly associated with the exhibits at the museum of the California Academy of Sciences, will be in charge of the exhibit.

This includes a large painted background of the mountain country with Mt. Shasta in the center and will include a model camp set up in the heart of one of California's great forests. Groups of mounted deer and coyote will be a feature of the exhibit, the purpose of which is to educate summer vacationists against habits of carelessness which result in devastating forest fires.

Alameda County Independent Ice Cream Company

To the Dealers and Consumers of Ice Cream in Alameda County:

An attempt is being made by competitors to hold from the market a company whose aim is to reduce the price and give to the people a superior quality of ICE CREAM.

Heretofore the price of ICE CREAM to the dealer has been extremely high and the fact that the price has been reduced of late, is on account of our entrance into the market—and should we be forced from the market our competitors will again advance their prices. Our cream is manufactured in a sanitary plant, open to inspection; the quality is of the highest standard served in this Bay section; the price is the lowest possible, showing a profit to manufacturer and dealer.

Competition is the life of business, and through competition alone can you expect a fair price. In addition to this fair price we offer a SUPREME quality ICE CREAM. Why pay higher prices for an inferior grade? Support a company that will divide their profits with the dealers.

ZONING LAW IS TAKEN UP IN COUNCIL SESSION

Two Districts Are Set Aside in Ordinance Passed To Second Reading.

A zoning ordinance setting aside two districts as hereafter inviolate from garages, stores or other commercial institutions was passed to second reading today by the Oakland city council. It was introduced by Attorney Charles Beardsley.

"This is only a beginning," said Beardsley. "Oakland is far behind every other city in protecting its established residence districts."

There are two zones. The first one is aimed to protect Grand avenue and the Lake Shore boulevard district as well as all Lake Merritt frontage. The line is parallel to Grand avenue and 300 feet north, also 200 feet west of Harrison street. The zigzag boundary is also arranged to take in Nineteenth, Alice, Lake and Oak streets and on the other end it takes in the "Park View" frontages, beyond the Embarcadero

The second zone is aimed to protect the residence districts west of upper Grand avenue. The line goes from the west side of Grand avenue to the Piedmont line and then extends almost to Oakland avenue.

The second zone differs from the first in that apartment houses are not allowed. It is intended that this zone shall be a home residence district strictly.

"There is no objection from the residents of these districts," said Beardsley to the council. "In fact, they favor it. In the general proposition of protecting fine residence districts Oakland is far behind every other city.

"The proposed ordinance limits the building of any structure except family residences, apartments, churches or clubs, together with the necessary outhouses, which are under the jurisdicition of the building inspector, who can use his judgment as to the class and position of these outhouses. The second zone would eliminate apartments."

The officers elected are: President, Hugh Burnett; vice-president Thelma Williams; secretary, Bebe Hoffman treasurer, Fred Wasson; manager Joe Wasson

The Girls' club of Bushrod playground entertained the younger children of that playground with a mock Easter egg hunt last Saturday. Hundreds of paper eggs were made and hidden by the girls during the time the gates of the playground were closed at the noon hour. Monie Terazza found the largest number of the hidden eggs, with Ross' Hall second and Mary Bradbury third in the contest. Each of the children who participated in the hunt received a candy egg. It is hoped to make this an annual event.

Woman Juror Puzzled By Lawyers' Wrangle

Addressing herself to Superior Judge E. C. Robinson, one of the women jurors hearing the evidence in the contest over the $100,000 estate of Dr. Paul Lanz made a remark which attorneys and other listeners declared gave indication of her attitude toward the question at issue.

Attorneys Johnson and Shaw, representing Mrs. Ruth Lanz, were seeking to prove by Ernest Rogers, a drug clerk, that Dr. Lanz had written prescriptions for narcotics ostensibly for patients, but who had not received the drugs.

Attorney W. H. Clay, representing Mrs Lelah Templeton, to whom Dr. Lanz left his entire fortune, was making a vigorous fight against the testimony.

Finally the woman juror in question said:

"Your honor, if it is so insignificant, why do they object so to having it put in the testimony?"

"Madame," said Judge Robinson, "that is not a matter for your consideration. You must pay no attention to arguments by counsel to the court. Your duty is to decide the case on the evidence admitted by the court, who will determine what should be debarred."

"Although it is true that we have not been recognized in Washington," the president continued, "it is true that the friendly relations between the Mexican and American people have been growing every day."

Yolo Organizes To Bring Moose To Davis Site

Sacramento Lodges Pledge Support in Campaign For Big Home.

WOODLAND, March 30.—Dr. T. W. Prose and C. V. Huntington of this city have secured a promise from the Sacramento lodges of the Moose that the entire personnel of the order in the capital city will co-operate with Yolo county in its effort to locate near Davis the projected $10,000,000 home, comprising 3000 acres and equipped to care for 5000 orphans and waifs. Dr. Prose and Huntington are making a canvass of the Sacramento valley to make it a unit in favor of some point in the valley, preferably Davis, because of its State Farm School, the home for the California Moosehart.

The campaign is progressing at such a rapid rate that heads of the institution are contemplating a mass meeting in Woodland to take up the matter directly with the business interests. No money or donations are asked, but a suitable site and co-operation are demanded in the matter of selecting a location.

DAVIE ENDORSES ACTORS' BENEFIT

On behalf of the benefit, April 8, in all vaudeville houses in the nation on behalf of the National Vaudeville Artists, Mayor Davie today issued a proclamation asking the citizens of Oakland to attend the benefit performances in order that they may testify their appreciation of the service of the vaudeville actor during the war.

The mayor's proclamation says:

To the People of Oakland: Probably no group of our citizens more freely gave, or is giving, of their time and effort to the sustaining of the morale and mental well-being of our country, both during the world war and now in our trying period of reconstruction, than the American vaudeville actor.

While the war waged theirs was a duty they did not shirk, either upon the field of battle or among our home people. In a time when the morale of our soldiers upon the battle line was threatened, when the nerves of those at home were tense and tried, it fell to the lot of the vaudeville performer to supply a fund of mirth, music and song. This they gave as a unit as a voluntary contribution to our victory.

Their continuation of the spreading of cheer and gaiety during our post-war trials is a recognized factor in the promotion of that great American spirit—optimism.

Throughout the country, in every city, on the afternoon of Friday, April 8, the vaudeville theaters, great and small, will donate their entire matinee receipts to the actor organization known as the National Vaudeville Artists. The fund so derived will go to the establishing of a permanent insurance fund for the members of this organization, and for improving the artists' conditions generally.

I therefore urge the people of our city to avail themselves of this opportunity offered and attend the testimonial arranged at their vaudeville theaters on that afternoon, so that, in this slight manner, they may testify to their appreciation of the adequate services of the American vaudeville actor.

JOHN L. DAVIE,
Mayor of the City of Oakland.

Boy Handcuffed in Prank Falls to Death

LAMAR, Colo., March 30.—Investigation today into the death of Emory Fisher, high school junior, disclosed that the youth was killed in a fall from the third story of the city hall while he was handcuffed.

According to a signed statement made by two of Fisher's companions, the trio were playing cards on the third floor of the building. It was the rule at these card games, according to the statement, to handcuff the loser and place him in solitary confinement in a small room on the same floor.

It is believed that Fisher crawled out onto a narrow porch, lost his balance and fell to his death. He was handcuffed when found.

16-YEAR-OLD BOY IS PROBLEM THAT STUMPS POLICE

Willie Clark Won't" Be Good and Jails Can't Be Made To Hold Him.

SAN JOSE, March 30.—"Willie" Clark, formerly of San Jose, not yet 16 years of age, but an enlisted man in the army and under arrest for burglarizing the Fields Landing postoffice and a store at Scotia, is one of the hardest problems to handle that the officers of this state have ever encountered, according to a statement of his record given out here today from the sheriff's office.

This lad, Willie Clark, was born in Humboldt county and later his parents removed to San Luis Obispo and then to Santa Clara.

Until 14 years of age the lad showed no extreme lawless traits, but while in San Luis Obispo, it is alleged, he committed several burglaries and went to the Whittier school.

From this school he escaped and came to this city in search of his parents While here, it is charged, he entered the former Quement store on West Santa Clara street where he secured about $80 in money and checks. Arrested for this he was sent back to San Luis Obispo where he escaped from the jail but was recaptured and again committed to Whittier.

Escaping again he was re-arrested in this city and was accused of being implicated in a burglary at Santa Clara. Declaring he would run away if again sent to Whittier, his mother appealed to the juvenile court to have the boy allowed to enlist.

TAKEN INTO ARMY.

This the judge consented to, but, on account of his age, a special dispensation had to be secured from Washington. While this was being secured he was confined at the county jail in this city. His confinement in the county jail here previous to this in the juvenile court detention home here are the only places where the officers have been able to keep the lad from escaping.

On the special permission for his enlistment arriving he was delivered to the recruiting office in San Francisco where he entered the aviation branch of the service and was sent to Mather field, near Sacramento.

NOW UNDER ARREST.

According to a despatch received here late Monday night, the lad has again gotten into trouble. He was arrested at Eureka about a week ago for numerous burglaries and the theft of an automobile at Sacramento. He escaped from the jail there and his absence was not known for several hours.

Following this he was arrested at Scotia for the robbing of the Fields landing postoffice and a store at Scotia. The despatch stated he made a hard fight against the officers at this arrest. Whether or not he is classed as an army deserter is not known but is thought probable by officers here.

According to local officers this boy's case here was one of the hardest they ever have had to handle, as he would win their confidence and then deliberately violate it.

Forest Conservation Is Urged by Col. Greeley

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Colonel William B. Greeley, chief of the Forestry Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, who is in San Francisco, urged today that the State administration's plan of consolidating boards and commissions be not so shaped as to cause the abolishment of the State Forestry Board, or to abrogate the requirement that the State Forester be specially trained for forestry work.

California, he said, has made a splendid start in the essential work of protecting and conserving the forested areas, and nothing should be permitted to destroy or vitiate this State undertaking.

Colonel Greeley sounded an optimistic note as to the future conservation of the national and private forests of the nation. He is on a tour of inspection of the Pacific Coast States and arrived in San Francisco today. A graduate of the University of California, and lieutenant-colonel in the 20th engineers, the largest forestry regiment sent to France during the war, Colonel Greeley is considered one of the leading authorities in the administration of timber lands in America.

MEASURES ARE URGED

Colonel Greeley says he is not so much concerned about the one-fifth of the publicly owned timber areas, but for the four-fifths controlled by private ownership, representing 775,000,000 acres. Three things, he says, stand out as necessary if a shortage of timber is not to be felt vitally by the next generation. They are, first, fire prevention; second, the clearing of the "slash" or waste material left by loggers, and third, the leaving of at least one tree per acre in order that the land may be reseeded and spring to life again a virgin forest.

Greeley was in conference today with Paul Redington, district forester in charge of all of California and a portion of Nevada. They discussed the problems of the seventeen national forests, an area of 24,000,000 acres under Redington's control.

PRIVATE LAND CUTTING

Speaking of the present timber situation in the country and of what he hoped could be accomplished towards conservation and regulation, Greeley said:

"The public forest lands are pretty well provided for. We are proceeding nicely in carrying out the forestry regulations adopted and fathered by the late Theodore Roosevelt. These represent probably one-fifth of the total timberlands, but it is the four-fifths, under private ownership, that we are concerned about. On some of this vast acreage they are cutting timber four times as fast as it can be grown. The shortage of timber is the controlling thing. Already this has become acute in the East. Now the forestry movement is being carried to the private lands and we are hoping to get this great four-fifths which is under private ownership given the necessary protection and efficient technical care to keep it productive.

"It has been my belief that one of the best ways of accomplishing that is thoroughly encouraging and stimulating the development of real forestry work by the different States, and as to that the Forestry service stands in a co-operative relationship. We are endeavoring to provide for the systematic protection of the forest lands from fire and to find ways and means of fire proofing the woods, disposing of the debris and conserving the great forests so as to keep them productive. This is the gospel I have been preaching and I have been getting a fine response.

FUND IS DOUBLED

"We have this year a fund of $400,000, twice what we had before, for co-operating with the States in preventing fires. Through this financial help we are endeavoring to encourage all States to build up their fire protection work. We have requested the States to have forest organizations of their own.

"With a regular appropriation to co-operate with us and to serve as a nucleus to build on, we have urged the States to make systematic protection for private owners.

"I think in California a few simple provisions in connection with leaving the small trees which would furnish only a low grade of lumber and mean not much loss to logging, would practically solve the problem. This, with the prevention of 'slashing' and fire protection would soon restock our Sierra forests. Of course we do not expect that all this can be done at once, but this is the sort of development that we want in every State.

"I want to say that I am very pleased at the way things are going in California. You have here a state forestry board of very fine standing composed of men representative in character. The lumber, agricultural and grazing interests and the public at large are represented. The law requires your State forester to be a man of technical training and as the board has so far been of non-partisan character and cannot be used as a political football, I know that progress is being made."

Briton Buys Ticket And Then Disappears

What happened to Charles Chester after he purchased a steamship ticket in San Francisco for San Pedro is a matter which is concerning the Everyman's Club of Oakland. Chester, who is a British subject, was out of work during the winter months, and stopped for a time at the Everyman's Club, from which place he communicated with Roy Le Bron of Long Beach, who sent him money with which to purchase a ticket for the southland. The boat on which he was to sail reached San Pedro several days ago, but Chester was not on board. Investigation brought to light that the ticket had been purchased, but never used.

Chester is about 50 years old, has dark hair, blue eyes, a sandy mustache and weighs about 160 pounds. When he was last seen he wore a dark brown suit. His friends fear that he may have met with foul play.

BURGLAR ESCAPES

Awakened by a noise at his bedroom window at about 4:30 o'clock this morning, J. S. Baker, 1004 Sixty-first street, saw a hand trying to raise the sash. He ran to the window in time to see the form of a man running away. Baker notified the police and inspectors Joseph Enright and E. J. O'Donnel were sent to the house to investigate.

FARMERS SAVED MANY MILLIONS BY UNIVERSITY

U. of C. Comptroller Issues Estimate of Good Done Fighting Plagues.

BERKELEY, March 30.—Crops and live stock in California were benefited to the extent of $40,000,000 by the activities of the University of California agriculture department in 1920, according to a statement issued by Comptroller Robert Sproul today.

The work of the farm advisors and the county boards throughout the state has brought great aid to the farmers, he said, and in the grape industry alone the saving due to combatting plant diseases and blights amounted to more than $20,000,000 out of the total crop of more than $100,000,000.

Other items on the list of the university are several millions of dollars saved in the work of the department of pomology in the orchards of the state and large sums in the truck farming.

Investigation of diseases of animals caused many more dollars to be saved in the live stock owned by California farmers. Hogs, cattle and poultry received the greatest benefit, the actual sum saved amounting to more than $6,000,000, it is claimed.

Ten thousand farmers were given instruction by seven special investigators sent out by the university, and 250 meetings were held in the county centers to instruct the farmers.

Officials Appointed For April Election

City Clerk Cummings today sent out 1510 communications notifying certain citizens that they have been appointed as officials in the booths at the April 19 election. Meantime the job of addressing 85,000 envelopes with sample ballots is going forward by the office force, which has half completed its task. The sample ballots will be started on their way to the voters shortly.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color 15c and 30c.

MARYLAND TO PAY HOMAGE TO CARDINAL

30,000 View Face of Late Catholic Primate On Catafalque.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30.—Members of the Catholic Laiety filled the cathedral to overflowing this morning at the last of the special requiem masses preceding the final funeral services tomorrow for James Cardinal Gibbons, whose death occurred last Thursday. Bishop O. B. Corrigan, vicar general of the diocese, was the celebrant, assisted by members of the local priesthood. The music was sung by the cathedral choir.

At the end of the mass, the congregation filed slowly past the bier for a last look at the features of the cardinal, and the long line of men, women and children who had gathered streamed into the edifice in a procession which bid fair to continue all day.

It is estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 persons viewed the body of the prelate yesterday during the twelve hours it was exposed to public view. The office for the dead will be sung at the cathedral tonight by the Seminarians of St. Mary's College here and the diocesan clergy, Bishop Corrigan presiding. Governor Ritchie gave the final touch to the plan for a general tribute to the cardinal when he issued an official proclamation yesterday calling on the people of Maryland to suspend all activities at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the hour of the funeral, and offer a prayer of gratitude for the example of Cardinal Gibbons' life. In Baltimore, the mayor and city council have proclaimed a five-minute period of business suspension.

Miss Cawston Will Marry This Evening

For the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Cawston, and Edward Fennon, which will be solemnized at 8:30 o'clock this evening, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Henshaw of Vernon Heights, will open their beautiful home in the hill district. It is to be an Easter ceremony, the library of the home wherein the nuptial vows will be exchanged, to be exquisitely "done" in a profusion of Easter lilies. The room will be converted into a chapel, so to speak, a regular altar to be especially erected. On it will be a gold cross and candelabra such as are used in the church, the altar banked with lilies and myriads of candles.

Rev. Alexander Allen, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will officiate before two hundred and fifty guests.

The remainder of the home will be arranged in a wealth of double flowering peach, the handsome garden surrounding the home furnishing much of the beautiful decoration for the wedding.

At the bride's table will be seated eighteen of her closest friends. This too will be in pink blossom and real orange blossoms, a low centerpiece of the same to adorn the table.

Miss Cawston, who is one of the most beautiful of the season's debutantes, will present a medieval picture in her wedding robes of rich white satin, the gown cut upon straight and simple lines and heavily embroidered in seed pearls. It will be made short but with the high neck and short sleeves. The gown will be made in panel effect.

The court train of satin is heavily beaded and over it will be draped a veil of rose point lace reaching beyond the court train and edged with imported orange blossoms, originally brought from Paris, an exact replica of the real blossoms.

A handsome shower bouquet of white butterfly orchids and orange blossoms will be carried by the bride, these within an antique silver bouquet holder, a family heirloom, loaned by the bride's mother's dearest friend, Mrs. Joseph Coryell of Menlo Park.

Little Sally Chickering, daughter of Mrs. Alla Henshaw Chickering, will wear a bouffant ruffed frock of yellow georgette and carry a basket of yellow primroses.

Miss Marion Lyman, maid of honor, will wear maise georgette. All of the attendants will be gowned similarly, Miss Virginia Smith in pale blue, Miss Laura Miller in orchid, Miss Betty Dow in apple green and Miss Margaret Webster in rose pink georgette. The frocks are in the 1860 period, ruffled to the waist line, and fashioned over crinoline. Wreaths of blossoms will be worn in their hair. The bodices are cut decollete in keeping with the period, with small bodices and puffed sleeves. All will carry spring blossoms in shower bouquets.

Tyler Henshaw will give his daughter into the keeping of the groom. Mr. Kessler will serve as best man.

MISS EASTWOOD IS BRIDE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Eastwood of Mandana boulevard formed a beautiful background this afternoon for the marriage of their niece, Miss Marguerite Ella Eastwood, and Percy Robert Welch. The wedding at 4 o'clock today was the culmination of a romance begun when both were freshmen in the University of California.

Rev. John S. Snape, D. D., of the First Baptist church in this city officiated in the presence of the immediate family and intimate friends assembled. A buffet wedding supper was served later. The nuptial vows were exchanged before a background of Easter lilies and peach blossoms and greenery. There wase no attendants upon the couple.

The bride is a graduate of Miss Horton's school and of the University of California, receiving her degree with the class of '19. She later took up a post graduate course at college. She is one of the attractive members of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Welch is a University of California graduate and member of the Chi Psi fraternity. He was graduated with the class of '20. He served overseas with the Ambulance Corps during the war and attended the University of Lyon in France, continuing his course in French there. He comes from a distinguished English family and has made his home for some time with his aunt, Mrs. Florence Catterson of Rose street, Berkeley, and is affiliated with the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Welch and his bride will reside in Oakland on their return from their wedding trip.

Program Out For Meeting Of Women

By EDNA B. RINARD

The distinguished women whose names appear on the tentative program of the second annual convention of the National League of Women Voters to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, April 11-16, are for the most part not unfamiliar to the feminine public of California. The program outline was received by mail this week. It recalls the tour of Women's Party representatives, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, which visited in Oakland about a year ago and introduced to the women of the west something of the program of work which was contemplated by the women of the East. That for the most part it simply paralleled the effort that had already accomplished here was one of the striking conclusions reached by the local audience which listened to them. This was one of the basic reasons which last week led the California Civic League to become an active auxiliary to the national body. Since the visit of Mrs. Catt and her party, women throughout the United States have been granted suffrage. The framing of the 1921-22 program of work to be undertaken by the seven standing committees will be, perhaps, the most significant act of the week's conference.

The convention proper will open Tuesday, April 12, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, national president, presiding. Courtesies will be exchanged, committees organized, annual reports heard and by-law amendments read. The afternoon will bring the preliminary report of the election committee.

"National Legislation" will be the subject for the president's annual address in the evening when Mrs. Catt will preside as chairman. Miss Alice Stone Blackwell will present "The Tie That Binds." Representatives from the Joint Congressional Committee will make short talks.

Child welfare, American citizenship and social hygiene will engage the attention of the Wednesday morning session with Mrs. LaRue Brown, Miss Esther Lape and Dr. Valerie Parker the speakers. Mrs. Catt and Miss Mary McDowell will present the afternoon addresses. General subjects under consideration will be election laws, women in industry. The evening speakers will be Mrs. Catt, Judge Florence Allen, Mrs. F. Slade.

The future plan of work will be discussed at the opening of the third day's session. Food supply and demand, and the unification of laws, Mrs. Edward P. Costigan and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, the principal speakers, will have their place at this later hour.

The adoption of the program of work and election will mark the Friday session.

The following committee conferences and leaders are announced: "Election Laws and Methods," Mrs. Catt; "Child Welfare," Mrs. LaRue Brown; "American Citizenship," Miss Lape; "Protection of Women in Industry," Miss Mary McDowell; "Social Hygiene," Dr. Valeria Parker; "Unification of Laws," Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch; "Food Supply and Demand," Mrs. Edward P. Costigan.

The spring luncheon of the College Women's Club is heralded for Saturday at Hotel Claremont, when several scores of the university alumnae will assemble to make merry together at a program of music and round of toasts. Mrs. James Schuessler is chairman of the festivities. Assisting her are Mrs. Thomas Reed, president; Mrs. Milton Farmer, Mrs. Roy Warner, Miss Lulu Minor, Miss Irma Riley, Miss Mary Bird Clayes.

There is great rejoicing in the club ranks that the scholarship fund is nearing its goal and that the next year will witness the debut of their own representative in the student body of the University of California.

"The Shop and Shopper" is the subject which Dr. Jessica Peixotto will present tomorrow night before the Business and Professional Women's Club when the members assemble at the March dinner in the Y. W. C. A.

A program of music is promised for the April union meeting of the Adelphian Club on Thursday of next week. Mrs. Floyd Judson Collar is arranging the recital which will present Mrs. Arthur J. Hill, soprano; Miss Ruth Hall Crandall, contralto; the Arion string trio, including Joy Holloway, piano; Josephine Holub, violin; Miss Margaret Avery, cello, and Mrs. Raymond C. Brooks, child impersonator. Mrs. J. Crew Aylwin and Miss Lillian Simonsen will be the accompanists.

A SOLEMN REFERENDUM

If we took a nation-wide referendum on the question "what is the cleanest, most nutritious breakfast cereal in the world," there is no doubt that the verdict would be in favor of Shredded Wheat Biscuit. It is something more than a breakfast cereal. It is a substitute for meat, eggs and potatoes for any meal, much more nutritious and costs much less.

Two Biscuits with hot milk make a warm, nourishing meal and cost but a few cents. Delicious with fruits and fruit juices.

BISHOP, CAL.—"About five years ago I suffered severely. I consulted a local doctor and he said I would have to undergo an operation. Gasoline Explodes, Youth Badly Burned

Lee Beebe, 16 years old, who lives with his uncle, H. M. Rush, at 1366 Twenty-eighth street, was painfully burned when a can of gasoline in the basement of the house was exploded by a motorcycle spark plug which he was testing at his work bench.

Fire from the exploding gasoline quickly spread to other parts of the house, resulting in about $500 damage to the Bush home.

Beebe was rushed to the Emergency Hospital in the automobile of Fire Chief Elliot Whitehead by the chief's driver, Francis Bell.

A STERN EXAMPLE.

"The silver lining of the Russian cloud is the fact that the world has for the moment learned the lesson of Socialism. It has learned that an attempt to put into practice the fallacies of Karl Marx leads inevitably to a dictatorship of fanatics and criminals, to economic ruin, and to moral collapse. The poor, suffering Russian people, first trusting and gullible, and then terrorized and helpless, have paid the terrible price. On an infinitely smaller scale, and happily in coin instead of blood, the people of North Dakota are paying the price of the Non-Partisan League experiment in economic fallacy. The cost is heavy and spells ruin for many an honest, hard-working family, but the lesson will not be lost on the people of other States."

It is not possible to make any improvement upon this succinct statement from the New York Weekly Review concerning the experiences of North Dakota with the Non-Partisan League. Positive disaster has fallen upon that State and the silver lining to the cloud of trouble is the fact that the people have finally comprehended the situation and are taking steps to remedy it. When they are through with the painful business it may be safely assumed that North Dakota will be through with the Townley idea.

When North Dakota, by a scant majority, endorsed the Townley scheme, the leaders of the adventure decided to make a State bank the center of their operating machinery. This, they reasoned, would give them abundant financial resources with which to establish grain elevators, new marketing facilities, a chain of State financial cooperative stores, a State home builders' association and other landmarks of the radical's utopia. The idea of the State bank was based on the conception of the Socialist agitator that banking merely consists in receiving other people's money and loaning it out again to the people who deposited it. In other words, the Non-Partisan League adventure, which had for its heart the State bank, was based on so flimsy a thing as the traditional indictment of finance and capital by the usual soap box orator.

It would have been difficult to believe in advance of the experiment that such a thing could have happened in intelligent America. But such is the case. Ignorance and class passion became the corner of the State sponsored, State supported, State directed system of governmental, industrial anad financial operation. All the experience gained since Judas took the blood-stained pieces of silver was thrown to the greedy winds.

The official report of an auditing company reveals the modus operanda of organizing the State bank. Quoting again from the Review, "when the bank was ready, as far as physical equipment other than cash was concerned, to open its doors, it gave two checks amounting to $2,000,000 to the State Industrial Commission for State bonds. The State Industrial Commission endorsed the checks and turned them back to the Bank of North Dakota and thus was started, without a dollar of cash capital, an institution which, under the law, was the depositary of all the public funds in the State of North Dakota, including not only the funds of the State proper but the funds of counties, cities, villages, townships and school districts. And this maneuver was made while the bonds were in litigation."

In this transaction high finance reached its highest achievement. The whole State administration of North Dakota would be sent to prison for such a deed in Kansas, California or a score of other States in the Union enforcing blue sky laws.

When deposits of moneys from the various public bodies were received they were loaned out to start the new State projects—grain elevators, stores, home-building enterprises, etc., and invested in farm loans. A large portion of the money was placed out in loans running for thirty years. Before it had gone very far the State bank found that it had over $5,000,000 tied up, "frozen," in these long term loans which could not be called. Having started with no capital or reserve it could not meet checks against deposits. Public bodies have lately started garnishment proceedings against the State bank.

Such fallacious methods alone would have wrecked the bank. But there was added the embezzlements of loans for political purposes and out of political motives. For instance a bank in Deering with a capital and surplus of $20,000 owes the State bank $57,674. The president of this bank is Frank Wood, member of the executive committee of the Non-Partisan League, and the vice-president is Howard Wood, lieutenant-governor.

With the State bank in collapse and recall proceedings against State officials in progress, the other projects naturally are going under. Thus North Dakota has found that the banking business was not quite what the agitators said it was. Ignorance flavored with venality has plunged the State into practical bankruptcy. Over thirty banks in the State have been closed. The public service is endangered through the lack of funds to pay officials and employees, boadholders are foreclosing, thousands of citizens have lost their fortunes. No significant outside assistance can be obtained until the Townley gang is ousted from power.

So North Dakota pays for its fantastic orgy in demolishing the proven laws of finance, business and government. It has played the Non-Partisan League game and gone broke. Will North Dakota's example be sufficient for all the other States?

NEW BUILDING INCREASES.

Information compiled by the Federal Reserve Bank for the twelfth reserve district shows for the month of February Oakland recorded an increase in building activity of 77 percent compared with January. This city stood fourth among twelfth district cities in the total of building permits granted, and exceeded Seattle's total by $400,000.

What developments have taken place in other cities during March are not definitely known, but Oakland has continued to go ahead in new construction and in the volume of real estate transactions. Deals in realty and activities in home and business structure building have been of unusual volume.

Reports from all sections of the country indicate a lively revival in building activities, with the exception of some of the Northwestern States. There is cause for much confidence in this general character. It shows that the period of making good the delays and cancellations of contracts during the war and the two years following the war has been reached and welcomed. Builders have concluded that the considerable reduction in building costs that has transpired is not likely to be augmented to a significant extent in the near future.

Normal conditions in the construction business is one of the strongest influences for general prosperity. Demands in all lines of production are increased—the iron and steel, electrical fixtures, furniture and a hundred others. The revival becomes general and artificiality in values is removed in all, or practically all, operations. Soundness and permanency is established.

This phase of the post-war period is apparently now at hand. Confidence will accelerate it. Lack of confidence will delay it. There is every reason for confidence. Fundamentally, in material aspects, the situation is sound. Politically, that is, from the standpoint of the policy of the national administration regarding business, the situation is more encouraging than at any time during the last nine or ten years. It is not likely that any mistake will be made by those who go ahead with plans for new building, home-owning, or increased business activities of any character.

THE AMERICAN NATURALIST.

John Burroughs wrote many books and hundreds of magazine articles. No one ever became a less admirable citizen by reading anything from his pen. Other circumstances favorable, the reader inevitably became a better man or woman and a better citizen. This can be said of but very few men who have lived in the recorded centuries.

Burroughs was the dean and the most distinguished of American naturalists. Nature was his theme and life study. It was his constant love. He loved the simple things that nature has distributed around man with limitless and glorious prodigality. These simple things are also the grandest. So Burroughs found them. He wrote with a profound knowledge and finished literary talent; but simply, and grandly.

Unfortunately a very small portion of the people of the United States have read Burroughs' books. He was not spectacular in his methods. None of his themes have been dramatized or produced on the movie screen. He wrote for the better understanding of man. He appealed to the gentle and friendly and benign emotions. Consequently his books have not been "best sellers."

John Burroughs died yesterday, a few days before the eighty-fourth anniversary of his birth. He was on his way home after a visit to California. He had heard nature's spring call. He wanted to get back to his place on the Hudson river, to see the sap in the maples run, to hear waters rushing down pebbled brooks, to see the trees put on their seasonal greenery, to hear the chorus of the lark, the thrush, the bluebird and the jay. The voices of these things he understood better than any other man. He knew the moods of nature, and his heart was yearning for a more intimate touch when death intervened.

Another great American has passed. His life, too, like that of the great churchman who died a few days ago, was devoted to uplifting humanity, to developing the better qualities of man. There are many ways of living useful lives and John Burroughs had a sweet and lovable way.

NOTES and COMMENT

If the rumor that President Harding's selection for the next Chief Justice of the Supreme Court will be William H. Taft should prove to be correct a notable instance of a man "coming back" will be afforded. After Taft's distinguished service to the country in many capacities, his treatment as President was not creditable to a great nation. But that he harbored no grouch was shown by his subsequent interest and participation in national affairs, and there will be approval from all classes if he shall be appointed to preside over the highest legal tribunal.

"Americans put down uprising of communists." Referring to a despatch from Coblenz, which tells of the American forces there getting busy when the Reds tried to take possession. It was not a part of Uncle Sam's job to keep the peace among Germans, but the emergency arose, and it was met with promptness and despatch.

The difference in points of view in the South is illustrated by the Governor of Louisiana calling an extraordinary session of the Legislature to impeach officials who have not been satisfactorily active against gambling; whereas the Governor of Arkansas recently frustrated the Legislature of that State in its purpose to impeach a judge for criticising legislators.

The "arcade" proposition as to a Fourteenth - and - Franklin streets railway terminal, to cost $500,000 as represented, may or may not be genuine; but the Railroad Commission has made the right decision in ordering that something be done about a practicable structure to cost $50,000 or more at once.

So many angles of disapproval of scant gowns for women are disclosed that their apparel should begin to lengthen, one would think. It says in a despatch that admission to a church at North Adams, Massachusetts, has been denied those whose dresses are abbreviated either at the top or bottom. That certainly is not a querulous or flippant objection.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.

Just what view San Leandro is to take of city and county consolidation cannot be definitely stated, but if the expressions of citizens at Monday night's meetings are any criterion San Leandro will absolutely vote against any change from its present form of government. The freeholders are offering nothing at the present time that will convince one that the change is a good thing for San Leandro, and those who are watching things pretty closely cannot see anything but increased taxation.—San Leandro Reporter.

OFFICIAL QUIZZING OF CHILDREN

To the Editor of The Tribune:

The letter, "Children's Confidence," in the Forum of the Oakland TRIBUNE has caused quite a sensation among many parents. These same parents were asleep while the same kind of questionnaires were given to the children of the Oakland schools last term, prying into the privacy of the home. I find the questionnaires are a product of the Home Economic Department. Twelve mothers went over as many questions as their children could remember and found that the greater percentage of the answers were incorrect. What good will this incorrect information do the Home Economic Department? I tried to get one of the questionnaires, but failed. The following are a few of the questions:

Does your mother have an electric washer?

Does your mother have an electric iron?

Does your mother have an electric sweeper?

How many children under school age?

Do they eat at the table with you? If not, what do they eat? Do you drink tea and coffee?

Did your mother eat breakfast with you?

In some cases this question brought out that parents were divorced.

What time do you go to bed?

Does your mother make your father's shirts?

Does your mother make cake and bread?

There were personal questions about the father also.

In grades where the children are not old enough to give written answers they are questioned orally in regards to their homes.

I would like to quote a few lines from page 124 of the February Child Welfare Magazine, to show the attitude toward the home by those making their living out of the public school children. This man with his propaganda "resolved to reach the homes through the children. He would reach the children if by hook or crook he could move the superintendent of schools to [illegible] tage in such training through the public school. He would organize in the public schools . . . a course in—well, he dare not antagonize parents by calling it such officially, but in his heart of hearts it might be dubbed "saving the home." There it is in a nutshell.

From my observation I think the work of the school should be taking care of the children during school hours. They haven't time to "spy into the home" until they correct many faults that exist during school hours.

A letter, dated February 17, 1921, I filed with the principal of Jefferson school, at Thirty-ninth avenue and Carrington street, giving dates and time of many cases of cigarette smoking on the school grounds and at the doors of the school during hours. About a month and a half has passed and still the boys are allowed to smoke.

I have seen large boys give cigarettes to small and have seen the small boys smoke them. I have seen many exhibitions where large boys have entertained small boys, showing the art of rolling cigarettes.

Other times showing the art of blowing smoke through the nose and scratching matches on the bottom of the shoe.

It seems to me that these things are not discouraged in the school, or it would not go on day after day. It would be well for any one doubting to investigate when school is dismissed at the noon hour and at 3:15 at the corner of Fortieth and Carrington street. At the noon hour today I saw a boy take out his cigarette case and give a cigarette to another boy before lighting his own.

I fully appreciate the importance of the American Public School, but resent seeing the public schools used as a channel for propaganda of a medical, religious or political nature.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Some Babies Cry and What Mothers Should Do

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Self-contained grown persons seldom cry. Nervous and emotional individuals sometimes give way to tears. Children cry whenever they are unhappy or uncomfortable. The cry is the language of infancy.

Unless he is spoiled by over-indulgence, a healthy baby seldom cries. Indeed, he will rarely raise his voice unless there is a good and sufficient reason.

Babies are like other human beings; they easily acquire bad habits.

A mother may make herself a slave to her baby. If this were for the baby's good, every loving mother would gladly be a slave. But it is bad for the baby and deadly to the mother to permit him to acquire bad habits.

The most common of early habits is the demand to be held and jostled, to be rocked and jumped, to be carried and tossed. As soon as this habit is formed the baby cries until he is taken up. He tires himself by crying, and is made more tired by being handled. Thus there is created a vicious circle—crying to be taken, and then crying from being over-tired.

It is amazing the way a baby will learn how to get attention. He will cry and then stop to learn the effect of his vocal exercise.

After the baby is fed and given dry clothing he should be left to his own devices. The less he is petted and jumped about, the better.

Another cause for crying is tightness of the garments. Baby's clothes may be snug, but should never be tight-fitting. The body and limbs should be as unencumbered and untrammelled as possible.

Pins are just as disagreeable to an infant as they are to a grown person. Safety-pins are preferable to all others, because they are what the name indicates. Many a poor baby has suffered terribly from pin pricks. Crying should be a reminder of this possibility.

Dry garments are essential to the comfort and health of the infant. If they are not supplied regularly the protest will take the form of wailing.

Bad feeling is the most common cause for crying. Too much food or wrong hours of feeding, all result in discomfort.

The mechanism of digestion is a delicate one, and every mother must master its secrets. Unless she does she will have a fretful and noisy baby.

Last, but not least, is the advice to remember how terrible it is to be deprived of water. Thirst produces an agony of unhappiness for the adult. Many times a crying child may be quieted by being given a few drops of pure water. The eagerness with which this precious fluid is taken from the spoon should convince the mother that babies as well as grown-ups have other appetites than for food alone.

Answer the baby's cry, but so train him that his cry is an appeal for help and not for sympathy.

PEACE DEPENDS ON AGREEMENTS, ASSERTS LAUCK

Economic Union Expert Tells U. S. Labor Board Need of National Pacts.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Industrial peace is dependent upon the continuation of national agreements between railroad corporations and employees, W. J. Lauck, economic expert for the unions, told the United States railroad labor board today.

"Employer and employee is organized into strong national bodies," he declared. "Financing and practically all business relationship is on a national scale. Hence it is of utmost importance for the peaceful and productive development of industry that employer and employee should work out national trade agreements."

Lauck said an investigation of the labor situation of many industries tended to show:

1. Industrial peace is attained by national agreements.
2. Establishment of uniformity in working conditions is socially important.
3. The unions observe their contracts.
4. Trade agreements are not inconsistent with the genuine open shop.
5. Trade agreements humanize the industrial situation.

Lauck presented documentary evidence showing the movement toward national agreements in the railroad and a number of other industries.

BIG BLAZE TO BE BUILT AT U. C. AX RALLY

BERKELEY, March 30.—Three thousand tickets for the annual "ax rally" of the University of California will be issued on the campus next week. Because of the limited capacity of the Greek theater and the usual demand for admission made by people outside of the college, the students have decided that outsiders will only be admitted by ticket, and the students will march to the rally in class formation.

The members of the freshman class will take over the traditional task of building the bonfire for the rally, at which the Stanford "ax" will be taken from its safe deposit vault and turned over to its new custodian. The bonfire will be the first built by the present freshmen and they have declared their intention of outdoing past classes in the work. Six trucks have been secured to haul wood for the blaze.

Housewives Consider Cost of Ice Cream

ALAMEDA, March 30.—The reduction in the cost of milk and ice cream will be taken up for consideration by the members of the Alameda Housewives' League when they meet in Knights of Pythias hall tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. May Larkin Marston will preside.

Typical California girlhood will frolic on the University of California campus Saturday when the annual Prytanean Fete heralds the spring. MISS ARLINE RICE (left) and MISS FLORENCE CLARK (right) are included in the bevy of Yuma Yuma girls.

Dancing by Masked Revelers and Side Shows of All Kinds Will Be Festival Features

BERKELEY, March 30.—A colorful "Toyland" will be a feature of the annual Prytanean fete in Harmon gymnasium Saturday evening.

Dancing by masked revelers will be held in the novel setting planned for the occasion. Masks will be sold at the gymnasium by college Pierrots.

Side shows, concessions and booths for the sale of refreshments will be presided over by college girls dressed as familiar figures of Mother Goose lore. A gigantic jack-in-the-box will be a feature, the inside to house a cabaret show, presided over by Simple Simon as master of ceremonies. A Noah's ark, Punch and Judy, Jack and the Beanstalk, Mary, Mary Qunite Contrary and Humpty Dumpty will be other features.

Continuous entertainment will supplement dancing.

Former Alameda Man Honored in New York

ALAMEDA, March 30.—Seabury C. Mastick, former resident of Alameda, member of the well known Mastick family and a cousin of Mayor Frank Otis, has had three honors conferred upon him in New York, his present home, according to word received by Mayor Otis this morning. According to the letter Mastick, who is now a practicing attorney, has been elected assemblyman from his district in New York and has also received a citation from the navy department and the Conspicuous Service Cross of the state of New York.

His citation and award of the cross was made because of his exceptional ability and administrative qualities displayed in the manufacture of star shells during the war. According to the citation these far surpassed those in use by any other country.

During the war he served with the naval forces and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant commander.

Shipyard Watchman Drops Dead On Beat

They have been notified of the death by Smiley & Gallagher, deputy coroners, who have taken charge of the body.

MRS. LAMBERT IN COURT HAS TRIAL SET FOR APRIL 5

Victim of Wife's Bullet Still in Hospital Under Doctor's Care.

ALAMEDA, March 30. — Mrs. Emily Lambert, who was charged with having shot her husband, Tom Lambert, Monday night, while he was escorting Mrs. Clarence Erwin home, appeared before Police Judge L. R. Weimann this morning and had her preliminary examination set for April 5 in the Alameda police court. None of the other principals were in court. Immediately after the date was set by Judge Weimann, Mrs. Lambert was taken back to the Oakland county jail.

Lambert is in St. Anthony's hospital, Oakland, under treatment from the revolver wound inflicted by his wife. According to the police it was the intention of Mrs. Lambert to shoot Mrs. Erwin, who is the widow of a former policeman of Alameda. Lambert grappled with his wife and one of the two bullets fired entered his left side. Mrs. Erwin escaped and proceeded to her home, 1448 Sherman street. Lambert was treated first at the emergency hospital. The trio had appeared before the police with their troubles previously.

Sound Fierce, But They Don't Bite

Zeeks, Spongs, Unks Are Dug Up

Words Coined by Wheeler's Class

Persons who happen to discover a goshdingit, or a kerflippit, or a geesh are advised to communicate immediately with members of Professor Benjamin Ide Wheeler's class in comparative philology at the University of California.

The students have already exhumed, dug up, roped or otherwise captured a zeek, spong, sqush, unk, rocket and huh and they eagerly are looking forward to adding to the collection.

Zeeks, spongs, squshes, unks and huhs are not as ferocious as their titles would imply, although the Fish and Game Commission has not protected them with a closed season.

They are new words suggested by the students as possible additions to the English language in order to add zest to the tongue and make it more pliable and expressive.

Professor Wheeler recently announced he had coined some words which, he believed, would express actual sensations and sounds by their very pronounciation. The list included "sping," "schulp," "squidge" and "blimb." Now the students are acting on his suggestion that they can create or find additional words to make English as she is squeaked more facile.

It is predicted the students soon will have created a language of their own which will be intelligible only to themselves and which will sound like two Kanaka stevedores exchanging personalities or a shooting gallery on a Saturday night.

Another work of the class is to discover the change in the meaning of words in common use due to constant association to sounds and actions. Many words are now misused, say the students, and are known only in changed form because of constant association with things other than those to which they were originally applied.

VISITOR ROBBED OF JEWELRY, CASH TOTALING $1340

Thug Compels H. G. Curzon of S. F. To Part With Valuables.

Confronted last night at Seminary avenue and Bond street by a thug who thrust a revolver against his body, Harry G. Curzon, Pilot hotel, San Francisco, was compelled to walk into a vacant lot nearby, where he was forced to part with a diamond ring valued at $1000, a platinum gold watch worth $250, a gold chain worth $35 and $55 in cash.

After his pockets had been rifled Curzon was told to put his hands in his pockets and walk straight ahead for five blocks without uttering a sound. He was threatened with death if he disobeyed.

The highwayman was described to the police as about 6 feet tall, 35 years old and of dark complexion. Curzon said the thug had a peculiar walk.

The Verdict of This Master of Music

Read What Paul Steindorff Says of Thomas A. Edison's Musical Masterpiece

Oakland, California
December 15th, 1920

MR. BERNARD S. GOLDSMITH,
The Oakland Phonograph Co.,
Oakland, California.

Dear Mr. Goldsmith:--

After having heard the Edison phonograph in its reproduction of vocal, instrumental and orchestral music, I am enthusiastically endorse Mr. Edison's adoption and use of the word "re-creation" as applied to what his phonograph and his "diamond disco" do. It is easily understood why the Edison phonograph is the only music-reproducing instrument that will sustain the test of direct comparison, on an auditorium stage, with the voice of the living artist as it has been "re-created" by Mr. Edison's method.

Yours for the Best in Music,

PS/AC — Paul Steindorff

No Difference!

- The New Edison actually Re-Creates the voice of the artist.
- Thousands of public tone test recitals have proved this.
- Come in and let us prove it to your satisfaction.
- Let us show you the beautiful Edison period models.

Oaklander Breaks Bike Record in Way

Earl O'Neil, 1030 East Twenty-first street, is the holder of a world's record. He pedaled to San Jose yesterday morning on his bicycle, taking plenty of time. But on the way back he hung up the record. Leaving San Jose at 2:10 o'clock, he whizzed into San Francisco at 1:15, covering the distance in one hour and thirty-ve minutes, the fastest time ever made over that route by a bicycle.

Commenting on the feat today, O'Neil said:

"Yes it's a world's record all right, but I was holding onto an automobile all the way up."

WILL DISCUSS MOVIES.

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Houlihan

Thirty-eight hours and thirty minutes from Seattle to Oakland, over roads hub deep in mud in places, is a mark claimed by Dr F. W Rickenberger, of Seattle, who arrived in Oakland Saturday. The doctor drove up to Hudson and Essex headquarters, of Hamlin and Boqua, with his Hudson car spattered with mud from one end to the other The mud was so thick that it had completely covered the windows in the rear curtains of the car.

The doctor says his time from Portland to Oakland was 30 hours and 30 minutes, only about two hours under the record set a few months ago. Rickenberger declares that he drove along at good speed

"It was necessary to drive in low gear down Smith Hill in Oregon, over the Siskiyous," Rickenberger told E. A. Hamlin, of the Hudson dealers here. "The state maintains a team of horses at this point to pull cars out of the mud, but we came through without trobule.

"The country in Oregon and Washington and California is wonderfully scenic now. The hills are very green, and there is snow on the mountains. The roads will soon be in fine condition. All three coast states are planning on getting them into shape, in the expectation of greater traffic than ever this year.

"As soon as the roads dry out, the trip between Oakland and Portland can be made with ease and in comfort, and this route affords one of the most wonderful drives in the west."

Dr. Rickenberger drove down to visit his brother, whose guest he will be for some time.

AUTO CAMP GROUND DIRECTORY.

Over two-thirds of the Municipal Auto Camp Grounds in California continued in operation throughout the winter. Some of them were never vacated.

On April 15, 1921, the Highway Weather Service will publish a summer directory of Municipal Auto Camp Grounds in California and adjoining states If your camp was listed last season it will be listed again. If not, you will confer a favor by sending a description to Weather Bureau, Red Bluff, Calif

Parties desiring a copy of this directory can obtain one free upon request. Ask for Highway Bulletin No. 42.

TO REGULATE CAMP GROUNDS.

The California State Board of Health has passed resolutions regulating sanitary conditions at auto camp grounds If auto camp grounds do not fulfill these requirements they can be declared a public nuisance Some of the requirements are: Ample supply of pure water easily accessable. Inferior water in vicinity to be eliminated, purified or posted Sanitary toilets within 460 feet of all camps Supervision and equipment for garbage disposal. Caretaker to look after grounds every day All sanitary appliances to be kept in repair and those damaging them wilfully to be ejected from grounds For full text write to State Board of Health Sacramento, Cal

SENATE PASSES LAWYERS' BILL BY INMAN'S VOTE

Arbuckle Explains Why Measure Is Not Endorsed By Bar Association.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 30.—When Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento voted "Aye" twenty minutes after he had announced that it was his intention to vote "No," the bill which would prevent trust companies from drawing wills or transacting other legal business carried in the senate by that one necessary ballot and the fight on the measure is now transferred to the assembly. All of the attorneys in the senate voted for the measure and most of the laymen against it.

It was not until they had heard their pet measure decried as class legislation, an attempt to create a monopoly, and a bill which would most certainly be defeated if submitted to the people that the lawyers had the satisfaction of their first victory.

EXPLAINED BY ARBUCKLE

Senator F. A. Arbuckle of Santa Barbara was the one who directed the attack.

"I am opposing some of my best friends in fighting this bill," he said, "and have in mind a young attorney who aided me the most in my campaign. He is one of those attorneys who like to go to work at 9 o'clock and to wait for business to come to him. Most of the attorneys who oppose this bill do so because they see business going to other attorneys who are retained by the trust companies.

"It would be more logical if the bill stood as first drawn, for then all except attorneys would be precluded from transacting any legal work. But the proponents, seeing that they could not pass such a measure, have amended it to direct their attack solely on the trust companies and by exempting the realty men and others have won some support. The bill as it now stands has not the endorsement of the Bar Association.

SERVICE IS RENDERED

"The trust companies are rendering a service because they are permanent, and the public is proving that it is a service that is needed and appreciated. There is no demand from the public for this bill, it is a demand from the attorneys to protect themselves and is class legislation. The whole question arose from a quarrel in Los Angeles, where ill-feeling resulted in the framing of this bill, which would create a monopoly in the practice of the law."

Senator Sample, author of the measure, contended that the amendments would work no hardship on any one and that the bill would not prevent trust companies or any one from transacting "ordinary business agreements." The vote stood 21 to 14, with the full strength of the affirmative present.

CHORUS GIRLS OUT OF WORK

LONDON, March 30.—Unemployment in theaterland, like that in other professions and trades, is widespread here, it being estimated that there are more than 2000 chorus girls and actresses out of work. It is feared that unless conditions improve immediately many producers will have to quit.

Six Arrested Where Chips Were Found

Six persons, five of them charged with gambling and the sixth accused of being a visitor to a gambling hall, were taken into custody last night when a police squad forced the door of an establishment at 463 Eighth street. The officers seized considerable money, poker chips and cards.

Those taken into custody, were booked at the city prison as Dick Cripper, 37; Ned Hughes, 26; John Riddle, 46; Eugene Clark, 50, and Horace Ely, 39. All were charged with gambling. Joseph B. Fowler, 19, was charged with being a visitor to a gambling esstablishment.

POPULATION OF GEORGIA

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Georgia's negro population in 1920 was 1,206,365, an increase of 2.5 per cent over 1910. The white population was 1,689,114, an increase of 18 per cent.

Assembly Approves Primary Law Change

SACRAMENTO, March 30. — The direct primary law was given a jolt in the Assembly yesterday. A bill introduced by Assemblymen Oscar Smith of Santa Barbara, R. White Jr. of Los Angeles and Ira A. Lee of Pomona, providing for a one-party nomination only, was passed by a vote of 51 to 25.

If it should become a law there will be no more non-partisan nominations so far as they go now in direct primary elections. The measure provides that a candidate may seek the nomination only of the party with which he is affiliated.

Change in Women's Hours Not Approved

SACRAMENTO, March 30. — Assemblyman Parkinson's bill to amend the women's eight-hour day to permit women to work nine hours a day provided their hours of labor do not exceed 48 hours in any one week was laid on the table by the Assembly labor and capital committee last night. Labor representatives construed the measure to be an attack upon the eight-hour law.

U. C. Player Is Big Sensation in Pirates' Camp

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 30.—The outlook for the Pittsburg Pirates in the coming race is most rosy at this time.

The great Rabbit Maranville was expected to swell Pirate hopes during the springtime training, but there are things aside from the ginger, color and skill of the Rabbit which have brought pleasant dreams to Manager Gibson.

Among the brightest hopes is the youthful Ray Rowher, who is without an hour of major or minor league experience.

Fresh from collegiate exploits, this University of California lad bids fair to emulate Frank Frisch and George Sisler and span the gap between the college diamond and the big time in one jump.

Rowher seems to have the best chance for the outfield and if he fails to land, it will be because of a superabundance of stars. He throws and bats left-handed and has a remarkable arm, having cut down runner after runner at the plate during the spring games.

Bear Trackmen Will Tangle With Pomona

BERKELEY, March 30.—California track athletes meet Pomona tomorrow afternoon on California oval. This will be the last appearance of the Bruin before the big meet with Michigan on April 9. The meet with the southern institution is expected to give Christie's men even less trouble than did the University of Southern California last Saturday Pomona has but one man likely to take first places from the Bruin. Dagg runs the high hurdles in 15 1-5 seconds and the lows in 24 seconds flat, which though no record is the fastest time made around the bay in recent years. In the Pomona-Stanford meet recently Jess Wells, star Cardinal hurdler, in an effort to keep up with Dagg, knocked down more than the allotted number of sticks and was disqualified in both races.

New Athletic Fields Will Be Laid Out Down At the Farm

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 30.—Ten new tennis courts, two baseball diamonds and two soccer fields are to be erected here at once, according to an announcement made today by Dr. A D Browne head of the Stanford physical training department

The tennis courts will take the place of the present ones which are located on the site of the new basketball pavilion. The baseball diamonds are for intramural games.

The new athletic fields will be located on the land west of the gymnasium. A survey of the ground has already been made and construction work will commence at once.

Fifteen Michigan Men Coming West

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 30.—Coach Farrell of the University of Michigan track team plans to take 15 men on the trip to California two weeks hence for the meet with the University of California. The team will include several men now in their first year of varsity competition Farrel has indicated, as a result of their showing in the Cornell meet last Saturday.

The team began outdoor practice this week. Trials are set for early next week and the squad will leave for the west on Friday.

Horemans Shatters Billiard Records

NEW YORK, March 30.—Edouard Horemans, Belgian billiardist, has shattered two world's records at 18.1 balk-line in a match game with Albert Cutler, the Eastern champion.

A new high run record in a single block of 150 was set by the Belgian, whose record-breaking high average was 57 1-7. The previous record for high run in competition at 18.1 balk-line 140 was established in 1892 by Frank Ives In the same match played with the elder Jake Schaefer Ives established the previous high average at 31 1-4.

Ruether Helps in Dodgers' Victory

NEW ORLEANS, March 30—"Dutch" Ruether, former Cincinnati Red pitcher, aided the Brooklyn Dodgers in defeating the St. Louis Americans 9 to 2 He pitched the first half of the game, Cadore finished it. The score:

THREE MEMBERS OF THE CUBS

Jim Vaughn, alias "Hippo," is one of the real dependable heavers of the Chicago club. "Hippo" has been felling 'em in the big tent for many years and he is getting better all the time. He is only a tiny bit of a chap, being 6 feet 4 inches and weighing 204 pounds.

Here is Charlie Hollocher, the short-stopping kid who thrilled Coast league fans when he played with the Beavers. Hollocher has been a sensation ever since he joined the Chicago club and he promises to be a star in the majors for many years to come.

BILL KENWORTHY SAYS HE ONLY NEEDS A SHORT-STOP

Seattle Club Lines Up As a Real Contender For the P. C. L. Pennant.

(Written for the United Press)

SEATTLE, Wash., March 30—Give Seattle a shortstop and the Siwashes are the gang to beat in the 1921 Coast league race

Manager Kenworthy has gathered together a flock of tossers that look mighty sweet on paper The tribe has the punch, pretty good speed, heady catching and a good pitching staff The only real weakness on the club right now is shortstop.

The way things line up at the present time, it looks like Rod Murphy will take care of first base, with Manager Kenworthy at second, Tex Wistersil at third, and either Carter Elliott or Bill Stumpf at shortstop

Billy Lane, obtained from Oakland, will play left field, with "Brick" Eldred in center and either Rube Oldring, Bill Cunningham or Roxy Middleton in right field

Tub Spencer and Jack Adams, two of the smartest catchers in the league, will take care of the mask work for the locals.

Harry Gardner, Bob Geary, Al Demaree, Joe Dailey, Elmer Jacobs and Monroe Swartz are the right-handed pitchers on the pay roll at the present time, with Ernie Schorr and Ray Francis doing the southpaw chucking.

Much is expected of the hurling staff, especially Jacobs, Geary and Dailey. One of the pitchers will be let out as the club will carry only seven pitchers

Murphy should play better ball at first base this season, as he was new to the bag last year.

Kenworthy isn't a very speedy fielder and he needs a fast man to work with at short Elliott may fill the bill, but the club would look better with a high class man in that position

The tribe was lucky to land Wistersil for third to replace Sammy Bohne, who is with the Cincinnati Reds

The team will have plenty of punch, as Murphy, Kenworthy, Wistersil, Eldred, Spencer and Oidring are all good hitters.

And there will be plenty of speed, too as Lane and Murphy rank as two of the best base runners in the Coast circuit. Murphy leading the league in this department last year. Eldred and Middleton are also good base runners

Give the gang a shortstop and then look out above for that tribe of Seattle Siwashes

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BUD MORIARTY.

After deciding not to play their scheduled game with Technical High school, the University High school basketball team held an impromptu meeting yesterday and voted to go through with the original date set for the contest.

Technical earned the right to play Fremont High school for the unlimited basketball championship of the Oakland Athletic league tomorrow afternoon at the auditorium when they defeated University High 22-13 in the first game of the triple tie. Both fives were playing under severe handicaps, as University had not held any practice sessions for the game while Technical started with two reserve men in their line-up.

Tech assumed the lead at the start and maintained the long end of the score throughout the four quarters, leading at the close of the initial half by a count of 12-2. In the third quarter University staged a determined rally, Captain Mahoney and Running Guard Hardy dropping in two field goals apiece to bring the score up to 18-10.

Ernie Peters, the dashing Tech forward, was the individual star, shooting five field goals and six free throws, while putting up a strong guarding game against enemy passes. Captain Mahoney and Hardy looked best for the losers, being closely seconded by the brilliant aggressive guarding of young Art Greer, the University "find" at standing guard. Mahoney eased in three of his team's field goals.

Technical (22)—Peters and Diehl (Pratt), forwards; Lloyd Truman, center; Acting Captain Holmes and Dow, guard.

University (13)—Donant and Brandt, forwards; Captain Mahoney, center, Greer and Hardy, guards.

Field goals—Peters 5, L Truman 2 Pratt 1, Mahoney 2 Hardy 2.

Free throw—Peters 6 of 15, Donant 3 of 10.

Seals Given Trimming by Chicago Cubs

The San Francisco Seals opened their series with the Chicago Cubs by losing a 10-inning contest by a 4 to 3 score Errors by Willie Kamm and Jimmy O'Connell, followed by Flack's single, gave the Windy City boys the winning tally.

The Cubs got two runs in the first and the Seals came back in their half to tie the score. The Cubs scored another in the fourth, only to have the Seals again tie it in their half From that time on Sam Lewis of the Seals allowed but two hits, making six in all for the ten frames Jim Vaughn pitched the first nine innings and gave way to a pinch hitter Freeman finished the nill work The score

Extra Seats Being Built For Annual College Track Meet

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 30—Preparations for the Stanford-California track meet, which will be held on the Stanford oval April 16, were started here today by Graduate Manager Ed Martin. It is planned to construct 3000 extra seats for the big meet The majority of these will be built in front of the California section, while the remainder will be placed on the ends of the track.

Martin today began mailing out application blanks to Stanford alumni for seats to the meet. He declared that the procedure which was used last fall in selling the big game tickets will be used now, but the number of seats sold to each person will not be limited. The price of seats to students of the two universities will be $1 per ticket while alumni and general public tickets will be $1.50

The Stanford track is now in the best shape it has been in for years and some good time should be recorded. A force of workmen were busy on the cinder path all winter and have given it a fine finish.

GOSSIP of GOLFERS

By W. D. McNICOLL.

With the Claremont course in first-class condition yesterday the women members enjoyed their qualifying round in the Alice Knowles cup competition. Mrs H. A. Prole was the only low handicap player competing and turned in the lowest medal score Mrs C F Ford was unable to compete through sickness The first round match play at holes up handicap will be played today The semi-finals Thursday and the final Friday. The draws for the first round were as follows:

Mrs H. A. Prole 2 up plays Mrs. George Field 7 up.

Mrs. J C Cushing 8 up plays Mrs. C B Wingate 3 up

Mrs R. R. Yates 9 up plays Mrs. R. E. Fay 2 up.

Mrs B F Legare's 8 up plays Mrs. C. A. Stacy 3 up.

In recent tournaments held on the west side of the bay local players have found it a considerable handicap starting their journey from home early in the morning with a tedious ferry crossing and hurried rush out to the golf course where they arrived in anything but the best of condition for a hard match. In the forthcoming women's championship at Beresford several of the leading players have arranged to start at or near the course during the tournament. Dr. C. H. Walter, who has considerable experience in championship contests says a fast automobile ride previous to playing in a championship is the worst thing possible for the nerves.

HOUSTON, Texas, March 30—Third Baseman Jewelens, last year manager of the Houston club, and Outfielder Bill Stellbauer, champion hitter of the Houston club last year have been released to the St Louis Nationals, it was announced here.

Great Runner Steps the 220 In Even Time

Again Ties the Record For the Hundred At Stanford.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., March 30—Another successful attack on the existing International Amateur Athletic Federation world record of 21 3-5 seconds in the 220-yard dash was made here yesterday by Charles W Paddock University of Southern California, when, running against Stanford university, he made the distance in 21 seconds Saturday at Berkeley Paddock ran the event in 20 3-5 seconds, but his record has not yet been allowed

Paddock also repeated his feat of Saturday in running the 100-yard dash in 9 4-5 seconds, the world record Although Paddock took both his races and U S C captured eight places out of fifteen, Stanford won the meet 75-56.

Two of the five official watches caught Paddock in the 220-yard dash at 20 3-5 seconds and three registered him 21 flat. Dr. Frank Angell, head timer, said that if Saturday's mark is not allowed, yesterday's record should be, for there was no wind to help the runner

Morris Kirksey, Stanford, was but a foot behind, Paddock in the 100-yard event. Kirksey and Paddock have been running each other for two years, at the Antwerp Olympic games, at Los Angeles, at Stanford and at other places and Kirksey never has won.

A new electric timing device, used to supplement the watches yesterday, registered Paddock in the 100-yard run at 9.93 seconds and in the 220 at 21 24

The southern team was not entered in the two-mile run and the high jump. Five of the men entered yesterday, Paddock, Schiller and Evans of U S C, and Kirksey and Hanner of Stanford, competed in the 1920 Olympic games at Antwerp

HOWARD WILL USE HIS STRONGEST LINE-UP IN TOMORROW'S GAME

Pinelli and White, New Infielders, Will Make Their Emeryville Debut Against Chicago.

By BOB SHAND

Scrappy Johnny Evers and his set of trained Cubs will be with us tomorrow for a joust with the Oaklands (nee the Oaks). John and his hired men made their first appearance in these parts yesterday when they were entertained by the San Francisco ball club and, the men from the majors created quite a favorable impression. On the Chicago roster are several names familiar to Coast League fans. "Speed" Martin, the Elmhurst heaver, is going good with the National Leaguers this year, and George Maisel, former Seal and Beaver, is making his debut as a Cub. Zeb Terry, formerly of Palo Alto and later with the Seraphs, is a regular member of the Cub family, and then there is Charlie Hollocher, the sensational young shortstop Walter McCredie sent to the big league. In addition to these gents locals fans will be interested in the appearance of the Great Alexander, whom most folks consider the world's premier pitcher. Alex is not slated to pitch on this side of the bay, but there is always the chance of Evers using him for a few innings.

Big Buz Arlett has been primed to start against the Chicago outfit, with Art Koehler on the receiving end Buz has worked himself into fine condition and he promises to be a winner right from the start this year. It is not Superintendent Howard's intention to use Luz over the whole route, as he has Harry Krause lined up to do some left-handing against the enemy. Under the care of Scotty Finlay, the club's efficient trainer, Krause is in better shape this spring than he has been in many years Harry always did have the ability, but in recent years he did not receive the right treatment for his good southpaw, and he was not in shape when the opening gong sounded.

The regular Oakland lineup will be used Thursday, which means that the team will take the field like this

Willie, right field
Pinelli, third base
Cooper, center field
Miller, left field
Knight, first base
White, second base
Brubakker, shortstop
Koehler, catcher
Arlett, pitcher
Krause, pitcher

Saturday afternoon the Oaklands will play the Crystals at the Coast League grounds. A young battery will be used on this occasion, probably Hilton and Read Carl Zamlock dropped out to the ball yard yesterday afternoon and arranged for the Oaklands to visit the U C this afternoon and give the fans a treat playing against the Varsity. Gene Kerstien and Read will toil in the points for the leaguers, while Mike Morrow will do the pitching for the U. C. today.

SECOND GAME

Sunday morning the Oaklands and Cubs will play their final game, with Harry Seibold and George Winn sharing the pitching burden, and Mitze doing the back-stopping Sunday evening the boys will pack their grips and grab a rattler for Salt Lake, where they open the Coast League season next Tuesday The following athletes have been ordered to prepare for the trip Mitze, Read and Koehler, catchers; Arlett, Krause, Siebold, Alten, Shultis, Kremer, pitchers; Knight, White, Brubaker, Pinelli, infielders; Wilie, Cooper, Miller, outfielders; Cather, Kearns, utility. The boys remain away for one week only, returning to tackle the Seals in the first "Big" series of the year here.

Superintendent Howard naturally likes the way Ted Cather cracked the ball last Sunday, when he got seven out of seven but Del is too experienced to tear in and switch the lineup to make room for Ted The team that Howard elected ten days ago and announced exclusively in The TRIBUNE still stands for the opening game, and Cather won't break in unless one of the regulars is injured, gets sick or talks back to the umpire or something There was some talk of White being benched and Jack Knight moved from first to second to make room for Cather, but the way White fielded Monday and yesterday in the practice at Emeryville there isn't a chance of chasing him off the ball club As a fielder White has everything, and he won't have to hit a million to hang onto his job.

Not content with grabbing off a game with the Oaks for his U. C team, Carl Zamlock juggled some of the new Oaks out of a flock of cigars and things yesterday afternoon in the clubhouse.

After getting Howard's promise to play the game, Carl and Del adjourned to the clubhouse

"We got some new players here that ought to be good customers, and I'm just about out of cigars anyhow," said Del to Carl

"I'm not in the cigar business," explained Zamlock, "I'm only a baseball coach."

"I know what you are," chirped Del. "You gotta deck o' cards with you, ain't you?"

Carl saw the light and got busy as soon as he entered the clubhouse One "simple" little card trick netted cigars for Del and Carl with Al White on the donating side, and another little trick with a coin got smokes for the whole team Carl did everything to the boys but change the color of their uniforms, and the new players are probably still wondering who the magician was who talked them out of a lot of rope.

When all the other athletes had quit practice yesterday, Hack Miller, Honus Mitze and Ray Kremer were still on the lot, Hack hitting fungoes to the clubhouse and Ray and Honus grabbing them Clicking one to the steps of the clubhouse is no trick at all for Miller.

J Cal Ewing's reputation for veracity is being slightly questioned at the Elks' club. The Bills purchased a big Sheridan automobile to give away as a prize at a ball, and they wanted the machine parked on the main floor of their building, which is one story up

"Leave it to me," said Ewing, "I'll get it up here without tearing out the side of the building."

Next day the car was on the main floor and so was J Cal

"How did you ever get that automobile up here," asked some Bills.

"Easy enough," replied Cal " "Hack Miller was passing and I asked him to hand it up to me. You don't want the building or anything like that moved do you?"

CRY on Geraldine's SHOULDER

Jerry asked the men to "speak up for themselves" after the "Sheltered Girl" had confessed her fear of the horrid things. Did they speak? We'll say they did. At least three postmen became permanently bowlegged from carrying in the answer. Better than that, though, the WOMEN SPOKE UP FOR THEM. Here is a letter from a woman who was raised with and by men. It is the inspiring story of a rich life and I am grateful for it because it brings to you that sane human outlook which we all need.

Dear Jerry:

I have been tempted many times to "butt in," in what you have been discussing, and now that the eternal sex question is about to be threshed over I want to have my little say.

Away in an isolated farming district in the hills of Minnesota I first saw the light of day. My sisters were grown women when I came. There were two brothers, one five, one ten years older than myself. Here began my knowledge of man. It was my father who understood nursing, and night after night took temperatures, made poultices, worked unthingly at my bedside, worked unceasingly in the fields by day, that my life might be saved for the future usefulness to which I have dedicated it. No matter what other faults he may have possessed, the world owes that man a lot of honor for just saving me. (Dreadful self-conceit, Jerry?)

No matter what hard knocks the world has given me (and they have been many), NOTHING can rob me of the memory of the companionship of my brothers. If they ever did have that abnormal sex impulse they kept it from me. The eldest pulled me out of a burning peat marsh, saved me from burning alive at the risk of his own life, carried me on his back, "bossed" me around as brothers do, until he married a sister for me, as good a one as any girl could ask for, when he was 21. The other brother was never satisfied unless I was with him—skating, hunting, trapping, fishing, in the fields, in the home—maybe I was a tomboy. But I was more than that, according to his say—I was his every inspiration, the link that made life worth while until he met and married the noble woman who has since shared his joys and griefs (oh, such griefs, Jerry!). The strange thing was he did not decide to transfer his companionship to this lovely girl until I had chosen my own future mate, and we had a double wedding.

Enter Her Husband

Here comes the next man in my life, MY HUSBAND.

If he had ever looked upon me as a possible prey he could have secured me before we were married, for from the first time I met him I trusted him entirely. We were out alone dark nights lots of times. My confidence in him was too sacred a thing for him to violate. To a homeless boy like him my love was too precious, too much to marvel at, for him to treat it lightly. (Jerry, it is a good thing I am sitting at a typewriter now, for this sheet would be all washed with tears, but now they just roll off into my lap.) I want to tell the girl who asked about it, something of our life together. When we had been married a year we had a little son; in two years a daughter. Did he shirk his responsibilities? He did not! As far as his limited knowledge went, he gave to me and his babies the best care he could afford.

Later we moved onto a homestead, far from towns, drugs and doctors, where months went by without me seeing a woman's face. Other children came; and husband had to be nurse, doctor, cook, father and all. Do you think that was all sex gratification? I will tell you there was a lot of responsibility, hardship and hard work for us both. We have had in all eight children. We know what it is to see a beautiful flower of a child stricken with a malignant disease, her father's pet, one who by her absolute faith in her daddy had endeared herself to him in a thousand ways, leaving the strong man stricken, longing for rest, but for the other's sake going bravely to work again.

In Society of Men

While living those five years on the prairie I was thrown constantly in the society of the bachelors around. They came to me to bake their bread; some boarded with us; I nursed one through a severe attack of measles. I was only 22 to 27 years old then, and I have been told, good to look upon. Never by word, look, or deed did one of them ever show they felt that I was a woman, or to them a possible prey. The isolation brought us together in beautiful friendships. We called them all "our boys," hubby and I, and many of them appreciated a birthday cake, a penny post card, or such little kindnesses in a way that causes the tears to come now when I think of it all.

My poor boys, what has life held for them, I wonder? Has lack of faith and sympathy thrown them into paths of guilt or pain?

I come last, but not least, to my sons. My first born, my manchild! Before he came how I prayed for him, that he should be what he promised to be when he took his first oath—the one Theodore Roosevelt made immortal—"I promise to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, morally straight." Can any boy take that oath, solemnly, 'neath the folds of Old Glory, and then be looking for some poor weak girl to ruin? HE can pick me up and carry me about, my little son; but I would wager any girl would be safe with him for all time.

This, friends, is my story of men as I have known them. My motto has been, "Don't take my boy where your girl cannot go." If there are many men who are beasts in men's clothing, Society as we have it is to blame. I have Listen, World!

"I've been a good wife and mother," she wails, "why doesn't he love me any more?"

But he doesn't love her any more. He loves someone down in the office who files all his correspondence so he doesn't have a moment's worry, shoos away irritating visitors, and generally manages to make his whole work machinery run like a summer song. He didn't plan to love her. But he depends on her so everlastingly much that he just can't help loving her.

And at home his wife cries, and buys a blue organdie dress because he proposed to her when she wore that color, and cries, and tells the babies they are fatherless now, and cries, and hennas her hair because the little stenog is a blonde, and cries—and cries—and refuses to go to the movies without him—and cries—and rushes to kiss him every night, gargling sobs, and has to have special massage because of her exhausted nerves. If that isn't Love, I'd like to see a sample!

But what is Love anyway? Is it merely the OUTPOURING OF YOUR AFFECTION toward another person, or is it the REGULATION OF THAT OUTPOURING TO SERVE ANOTHER'S ESSENTIAL NEED?

We're all very keen on loving but we want to love in our own way. Has a wife merited her husband's exclusive devotion because she thinks of him when she buys her clothes and desires to kiss but him alone? Suppose he just wants to sit alone and smoke and think out that big deal—and have a fried egg sandwich afterwards. WITHOUT EMOTIONAL TRIMMINGS. Then isn't it the Higher Love to leave him unkissed?

The wife doesn't think so. He used to kiss her once—he doesn't kiss her now. Sobs. But the little stenog goes on filing contracts. WHO WINS?

often smiled when I've heard other women telling how they think.

A Real Life Story

Here's a little "real life" story, which will give some of us food for thought:

Dear Jerry:

The following incident, which occurred a few days ago in a hotel corridor, made an impression on my mind that is worth passing on:

The porter was seated close to the clerk's desk reading a morning issue of the local paper, when suddenly from somewhere a girlish little figure with her hair bobbed and curled under in the latest mode, a line of eyebrows and much beroughed cheeks, stepped up to him and said: "What kind-a meat d'you want for dinner?" No answer.

A minute passed, then again: "Tell me what you want to eat—roast or what?" No answer to the second question. "Say, think you might talk a little and tell me whatcha want—roast, or steak, or what?" Still no answer from the man, who was intently reading.

By this time my indignation was beginning to creep up, being a wife and housekeeper myself, and I felt waves of sympathy going out to the questioner. Another wait of several minutes and no word passed between the pair. Finally the wife, for such she must have been, tripped out the door in search of something, as I supposed, to appeal to the bear's appetite.

The telephone bell rang, the clerk turned to the porter with this message: "Tell Mrs. R——— to meet me at 1.30 to go to the show." It went the newspaper. "Nothing doing, not on your life!" She danced half the night I got my own breakfast, and I ain't a-goin' to have her gallivanting off to any show this afternoon."

Ah! my feelings changed suddenly, as I began to see a little of both sides of this domestic one-act comedy. Well I wish I knew what kind of dinner the poor injured one had. My train was due and I had to go, but as I started again the wife returned, made a face at the irate husband, held out her hand and said, "If you want any dinner you better shell out the loot." A jingle of small coins was the last I heard as she was tracking for the nearest meat market.

I could not for the life of me blame the man for his morose attitude, could you?

The Ownership Idea

Here's another letter against the ownership idea in marriage. "WE THOUGHT WE OWNED EACH OTHER, WHICH IS A BUM WAY TO THINK." Isn't that the humanest, wisest little text, with a 100 per cent kick? Read how they worked it out:

Dear Jerry:

I have never written anything before in my life to be published, but my life has been a great deal like Red Head's, so thought I would write. Three years is not very long, Red Head, when I think that it took hubby and I about eight or ten years to grow into an understanding of each other so we could live in harmony.

And whatever you do, don't weaken, for I believe way down in your heart you really and truly love that hubby; but, girlie, it takes patience and patience and then more patience. We were married young, too. He was 20 and I was 16. We were both hot-headed and had many scraps; not fights but ruckets. We thought we owned each other, which is a bum way to think. We have been married fourteen years and have three lovely kiddies. I mean they are strong and healthy, but I will say they are spoiled kiddies. Their ages are 7, 9 and 11 years. It is not their fault that they are spoiled, and I'm finding it is twice as hard now to teach them what is right. But I'm trying and using that patience I recommended, which will win its reward. My friends tell me I have more patience than they could think of having.

Ordered Lives

And as I was saying, hubby and I thought we owned each other, and tried to order each other's lives to our liking, which didn't work. So I finally came to the conclusion that I didn't own him. There seemed to be only one thing that the both of us liked, and that was music. I played the piano and he could play a number of instruments and we played together. I loved shows and he didn't, and he liked most always just the opposite of what I liked. We finally learned that we had no right to force our likes and dislikes onto each other, so if the kiddies and I want a show we go, and hubby is always glad to know we enjoyed it. If he wants to go play music with the different bands that want him, he goes, and I am always glad to know he enjoys it. He comes home and tells me all about his evening and the fun he had, and I laugh and enjoy it as well as he. We couldn't have done that a few years ago—if one or the other had gone out we would have quarreled for a week. When Oakland was having so many parades during wartime my hubby played in most of them and I was really proud of him. So one fine day hubby's mother gave us a machine, and now he just loves to take a lovely lunch and his family out in the country somewhere and have a day of pleasure there in the open, and we take a friend or two of the kiddies along to make it more fun for them. Indeed, we all enjoy that. We are just plain every-day people; no money to speak of; hubby only gets $150 a month. The machine is second-hand, but a good one. No, it isn't a Ford. He does all his own repairing, etc., so it is not so expensive.

I never danced very much in my life, but I thought I would like to, but my husband never danced, so I never, either. Those New Year's Eve jams, girlie, there's nothing to them. I don't see any fun being jammed to pieces. I'd rather have a page of Jerry's letters and answers, a rocking chair and a nice warm fire any old day. So, girlie, don't weaken, and remember, patience. Know that right is might and right will win out. Selfishness doesn't belong to that hubby—it isn't any part of him, and you know that he is free from it and he wants to do what is right. Now, Jerry, if this is too long a letter, use the shears on it. Dear, you are a wonder.

PATIENCE

These letters telling of the obstacles met and OVERCOME are great. They will do you more good than any possible amount of preachments.

Women Lodgers

WHY DO FOLKS PREFER MEN TO WOMEN LODGERS?

Dear Jerry:

Why is it that people do not care to rent to women or children? A friend has looked for days and everywhere she went they told her they did not like to rent to women. Men spit their noxious tobacco juice about, lie on clean bed spreads with their shoes on and have many other undesirable habits—yet they are preferred to women. Why is it?

Here's another thought: Why does not education include a thorough course in hygiene, dietetics, sex purity, justice, constructiveness, good citizenship, etc.? Why not BURBANK THE HUMAN FAMILY? If the time we spend in the study of ancient history and for other useless culture were used toward studying how to produce a higher type of human being, what not be more worth while than anything else on earth and should it not be our principal business?

L. S. C.

You will know from my leading article today how thoroughly I agree with the latter part of your letter. Now as to your first query—WHY DO FOLKS PREFER MEN TO WOMEN LODGERS? I have heard that question asked scores of times, both of boarding house keepers and of hostesses in private homes and the answer has always been the same: MEN ARE "MUCH EASIER TO HAVE AROUND THE HOUSE," EITHER AS PAYING LODGERS OR GUESTS, THAN WOMEN BECAUSE THEY MAKE LESS FUSS. Women are more critical, make more demands, snoop and peer more and are everlastingly noticing trifles because they haven't much else to notice. This doesn't apply to ALL men or ALL women. Some women are the best of company, and some men belong in an Old Ladies' Home But I am afraid the indictment does apply to MOST women. It's much easier to wash a soiled bed spread than it is to be incessantly nagged in a thousand tiny ways. Moreover, [illegible] bed spread isn't washed—and the woman always will. Women bother over tiny trifles, because their lives have been made up of tiny trifles. Men don't notice trifles, because their life training has been away from such things. Neither one deserves blame or praise for something they can't help—BUT WHEN IT COMES TO "SOMEONE AROUND THE HOUSE," GIVE ME A MAN EVERY TIME!

Just Folks

—by Edgar A. Guest

BUSINESS AND THE BOY

He never had the time to spend in play,
Or give much thought to him who bore his name;
He'd hoped his son would learn the proper way,
And never cause him sorrow here or shame;
He hadn't time to talk with him at night,
He thought the boy was getting on all right.

He had a business which required his care,
To lose his money would not do at all.
Mistakes would happen if he were not there.
So quickly does the market rise and fall;
Though others could be trusted with his boy,
Others his business surely would destroy.

Dollars are things a man can count and feel,
The bank accepts them, and the merchants, too;
Buildings are solid things of brick and steel,
And good to own and very fine to view:
Men know the worth of labor when it's done
But who can count the value in a son?

The business prospered, but the boy was lost
Others had failed to fill the father's place.
The man is rich, but oh, the sorry cost!
The son has come to ruin and disgrace.
Oh fool, who guards his business day and night,
Yet blindly hopes his boy will be all right.

Winifred Black's Column

My neighbor is making over the old house. He bought it only the other day, and I haven't seen him since, but I know he loves flowers and likes the singing of the wind in the chimney and can't bear to shut himself up, when all the great, beautiful world outside is calling for him to come and look at it.

Books he loves. Old books and friends, too, are his. Old friends and new ones! Music is his delight; and he has a wife who loves all these things with him.

I have never heard of him nor of his wife. I don't even know their names. I couldn't tell you whether the man is a lawyer, a doctor, a painter, a writer or a plumber, or the president of an uplift society.

I don't even know whether he believes in Ouija, but, without a doubt in the world, he's interested in fortune tellers and loves to sit and listen to some queer, crabbed creature reading for him the story of his life.

STEAKS, DEBUSSY AND DOGS

I think he likes his steaks rare, with mushrooms, fresh ones, of course. I shouldn't be at all surprised if both he and his wife had a fad for alligator pears and for California artichokes. Ripe olives, of course, they fancy big ones, slightly flavored with garlic.

The new music—Debussy, and the younger Strauss—well, possibly; but Mendelssohn and Beethoven and Chopin, certainly.

House dresses in dull blue, and Chinese robes—soft, swishy things embroidered in gold and silver—maybe she doesn't wear them at all, the wife of my new neighbor. She loves them, however, I'm sure of that.

Smoke? Of course, he smokes—not cigars, but a pipe or cigarettes.

I think there'll be an Irish terrier or an English bulldog in the garden—and, dear me, they're building a pergola and planting a pink passion vine and a purple bougainvillia to grow over it!

Such things mean tea and sandwiches and little cakes.

They're not so outrageously young. They're just in the nice, knowing thirties, be sure of that?

How do I know all these things? Why, by the house, of course! Also by the things they're doing to it.

It was always such a neat, prim, quiet, respectable, sort of sat-on little house. It had narrow doors and rather small windows, and no pergola and no balcony—not even a generous porch. The people who lived there were nice, quiet, kindly, sensible, practical people, with no nonsense about them. Busy people with beds to make and bread to set, and piano lessons to practice, and telephones to answer, and accounts to keep, and all the every-day detail of busy, honest, money-making, money-saving lives to be attended to.

Oh, yes, they know there was a view! They could hear the sea just at the right turn of the lane, and they must have realized that from the top of the house they could look out on a clear day and see the breakers on the beach, gay in the sunshine.

HOW BOOTS TALK

The lighthouse on the island threw its strong light into their very windows. I think that's why they had such heavy curtains. The little garden was always neat and well tended.

But they didn't have time to fuss much about views and scenery and moods, and too many windows meant too much work. What was a house for, if not to keep out the world and the scenery and the overpowering scent of too many roses and too salt and strong a sea breeze?

How much they are like us—the houses we live in!

I know a porter in an old-fashioned hotel who says he can tell all about the persons who send their shoes down by him. He doesn't have to see them to know them. He simply gives one look at their shoes, and that's enough. Good-natured persons have good-natured shoes, he says. Clever ones have clever shoes. Cross, overbearing men and timid, crushed women have shoes that look exactly like them.

So it is with houses.

Joyous souls they must be, who are coming to live next door.

SONGS of Frank L. Stanton

A Hopeful Brother

I just don't mind how the wild wind blows
On the land or the foamin' sea,
I know somewhere there's a sweet sweet rose
That blooms in the light for me!

And the dark may creep
And the storm may sweep,
But I'll thank the Lord as I sow and reap!

I just don't mind how the world rolls on,
For the birds sing far and free,
And I know somewhere there's a rosy dawn
In a round blue sky for me!

And the dark may creep
And the storm may sweep,
Still I'll thank the Lord as I sow and reap!

Happiness [illegible] for the part measure. That's why some folks prefer misery by the bushel.

Holding a Husband

What Maj. Grantland Came to Ask Madge

I found myself worrying absurdly over the situation, even though the rush of last things to which I was attending. My father, who always appears to have an unlimited fund of that elusive and elusive commodity known as "inside information," had warned us that we must get our trunks off early if we expected them to arrive in any season, also that we must carry all the things most necessary in our bags.

With the prospect of no trunks for days it was a seemingly endless task to decide which things were most vitally necessary for my baby's comfort and my own creditable appearance at the wedding. I packed and repacked suitcases and traveling bags, even tucking away such light articles as handkerchiefs and silk hose in the crevices of the box which held the hat I was to wear at Lelia's wedding.

LEFT ALONE

I was femininely inconsistent enough to wonder if my mother-in-law and I were to be the only women without bouquets at the weddings, even to feel resentment toward Maj. Grantland for taking our refusal for granted without even an effort to change our decision. Then my relation swerved to little Mrs. Dunkee, who might have known. I told myself hotly that I was only refusing the proffered courtesy because I dreaded Dicky's displeasure and his mother's nagging.

Thankful indeed was I that there was no one to disturb either my packing or my absurd worrying, which was complicated by the certainty that Dicky, despite his dislike of the young officer, would be furious when he found that the scheme which he himself had devised had been partly spoiled by his wife and mother.

Dicky had departed on the noon train to attend to some last things at the studio, and my father had unexpectedly taken the same train with an air of having discovered something of the utmost importance which had to be attended to at once. My mother-in-law was busy with her own packing, which threatened to be still unfinished when the train whistle should sound. Katie and Jim were efficiently preparing the house for shutting up, and I was left to my own unsatisfactory self for company.

A LONG "MINUTE"

I was in no very placid mood, therefore, when Katie dashed up to my room with a little more than her usual strenuosity and excitedly announced.

"Oh, Missie Graham! Dot Maj. Grantland, he here in dot great, beek car, vant to know if he can see you joost vun leetle minute."

The young officer's wonderful high-powered car has always greatly impressed Katie's flamboyant imagination, and I have always suspected that she secretly applied her yardstick of romance obtained from her beloved "movies," to the very infrequent appearances of Maj. Grantland at our home. That she had freely translated the young officer's request I was sure, and had to smile in spite of my irritation at her bright, interested eyes looking excitedly at me.

"Tell him I will be down in a minute," I answered sedately. But it was almost five minutes before I finally descended the stairs.

For an unaccountable fit of shyness, of reluctance to see Hugh Grantland, had suddenly seized me, and had shaken me until I found myself trembling like a frightened schoolgirl. Because of Dicky's ridiculous jealousy I had been extremely careful to be sure that some third person was present whenever I chanced to encounter him. That he had been similarly considerate I guessed, and it had come with a sudden, subtle if absurd significance to me that this was the first time I had seen him alone for many months.

But I finally nerved myself to go downstairs and put all my nerve strength into the effort to greet him with just the right shade of perfunctory cordiality.

"This is indeed a pleasure, Maj. Grantland," I said, holding out my hand in greeting. "Not quite unexpected, however, for Mrs. Dunkee has already told us of your wonderful thoughtfulness."

"What—eh? Oh! About the flowers?" he stammered. "Yes, yes, of course. But, as it happens, I have come about a very different matter just now. Tell me, is it true that you have no drawing-room for your southern trip?"

Letters of Terrie & Joe.

DEAR JOE—

The baby's got a new word. It's "hing." I haven't deducted out exactly what he means by it yet, but after a close study of the times when he uses it I've decided it has a certain definite meaning, though I'm not quite sure whether it's "I'm hungry," or "Sit me'up," or "Mama," or "Give me a drink," or "I want to go out."

A man tried to flirt with me today, Joe, while I was out wheeling the baby. He was a real cute looking man with one of those undecided little mustaches that you can't say either are or are not, and he tipped his hat and smiled and asked me if was married. I was never so insulted in my life, Joe, though of course I couldn't help feeling rather flattered at the idea of still looking single after five years of double harness, as the poets express it, though he couldn't have had a very bright nature to ask such a question, considering I had the baby right there and everything.

But of course I froze him with a look, and when he saw that I wasn't the kind to take up with perfect strangers he just started an ordinary polite conversation the same as anyone would, and it ended with him selling me a year's subscription to a magazine called "Farm Life." I realized later that it wasn't a very practical thing for me to buy, me being a city woman, but then I consoled myself with the thought that the yearly subscription was only $4, whereas each single monthly number costs fifty cents, or $6 for the year if you buy them piece by piece, so after all I saved $2 by the transaction.

I see the allies are sending more men into Germany, but I hope they'll fight their own battle this time and not call you for foreign service again like they did in 1918 when you spent a whole year in that unpainted camp down in Virginia.

Love from self and child.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SUGAR COOKIES.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Look out! Look out!" suddenly called Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl, one day, as the bunny gentleman was hopping through the woods. "Don't step there!" and Susie pointed at something.

"What's the matter?" asked Mr. Longears, looking over the top of his pink, twinkling nose, to make sure it was all right. "Was I going to step on the tail of the Fox or the Pipsewah Susie?"

"Neither one," answered the little rabbit girl. "But if I hadn't called you would have put your foot right on my sugar cookies!"

"Sugar cookies!" exclaimed the bunny gentleman. "I don't see any, Susie."

"Oh, of course they aren't real sugar cookies," said the little rabbit girl. "I'm only making believe! Baby Bunty and Jennie Chipmunk are coming over in the woods to play with me pretty soon, and I'm making pretend sugar cookies for our dolls to eat."

"Oh, I see!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he looked where Susie pointed and he saw that she had made some cookies out of chocolate brown mud, with something white and sparkling, just like grains of sweet sugar, sprinkled on the top.

"That looks like real sugar, Susie," said Uncle Wiggily!"

"If you tried to eat it you'd find your teeth full of grit!" laughed the rabbit girl. "That which looks like sugar is only white sand. And of course the cookies are made of mud. You wouldn't want to eat them, Uncle Wiggily!"

"No, I guess not!" the bunny gentleman answered. Then he hopped on through the forest, and pretty soon Baby Bunty and Jennie Chipmunk came to play with Susie.

Uncle Wiggily looked all through the woods for an adventure, and when he couldn't find one he turned back to his hollow stump bungalow. When he reached there he found Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper, just leaving.

"I'm so glad you came along, Wiggy, said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy."

"Why?" asked the bunny.

"Because Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck lady, just telephoned and asked me to come over," said Nurse Jane. "I didn't want to leave the bungalow alone, as I have just baked a batch of molasses cookies. They're out of the oven, on the kitchen table. When I come back I'll sprinkle sugar on them."

"All right," answered Uncle Wiggily, and as Nurse Jane hopped away the bunny went in the kitchen and saw the pan full of fresh molasses cookies," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well, something white and sparkling.

"Ah, this is the sugar that Nurse Jane was going to sprinkle on the cookies," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well I'll save her that trouble. I'll put the sugar on the cookies myself."

So Uncle Wiggily sprinkled a lot of the white, sparkling stuff from the bag over the molasses cookies, and, just as he finished, the kitchen door opened.

"I've sugured the cookies for you, Nurse Jane," said the bunny, not turning around to see who had come in. Of course, he thought it was the muskrat lady.

"Oh, you've sugared the cookies, have you?" growled a voice. "Well, that's good, for I'll eat some cookies first, and then I'll nibble your ears! Wuff."

Uncle Wiggily turned around and saw the bad old Woozie Wolf!

"Oh, please don't nibble my ears!" begged the bunny.

"Yes, I shall!" howled the Wolf. "But first I'll eat half a dozen of these sugar cookies!" Most impolitely he stuffed half a dozen cookies in his mouth at once and began chewing them. And then, all of a sudden, a funny look came over the Wolf's face and he howled:

"What's this? What trick is this? Oh, my teeth are full of grit! I can't eat these cookies! They're all sandy!" And away he ran to wash the grit off his tongue.

"Well, that's funny!" said Uncle Wiggily, putting on his glasses to look at the cookies.

"Oh, not so very funny!" laughed Nurse Jane, who came back just then. "What you sprinkled on the cookies was some white seashore sand that I was saving to polish my pots and pans. You put SAND on the cookies instead of SUGAR. No wonder the Wolf's teeth were gritty!"

"No wonder!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I'm as bad as Susie." Then Nurse Jane baked more cookies and the bunny put real sugar on them, but the wolf didn't have any.

Away hopped the bunny on the candy cane.

Add to a quart of cooked prunes, while hot, six eggs, white and yolks beaten together. Line the baking dish with caramel, and pour in the pudding. Bake thoroughly. Serve cold.

Caramel is made as follows: Into a sauce dish put a small lump of butter; when melted put in enough dry sugar to cover the bottom of the dish, say one-quarter of an inch deep. Let it cook or burn until it is a rich brown color, when cold it can be taken from the dish by striking it smartly, bottom up, on a cutting board.

Anaconda Closing Renders 7000 Idle

BUTTE, Mont., March 30.—Work in the Anaconda Copper Mining Companys' mines will cease April 1, according to announcement last night by C. F. Kelley, president of the company. Smelter operations will cease in about ten days, it was stated. Upwards of 7000 men will be affected. Anaconda is one of the five big companies to suspend.

Lack of domestic and export demand was given as the reason for stoppage of activities by Anaconda and the other concerns, which were the Utah Copper, Ray Consolidated, Chino Copper and Nevada Copper Companies.

Officials and others interested in the five companies expressed the opinion that the shutdowns would be only temporary. Normal production, they said, would be resumed as general industrial conditions became better.

Wage Problem Held Crux Of U. S. Railroad Issue

By HOLLAND.
—Exclusive to OAKLAND TRIBUNE—

NEW YORK, March 30.—S. Davies Warfield, of Baltimore, who represents the great body of stockholders in American railroads; Senator Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa, an authority upon the railroad situation in the United States, and Vice President William W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, conspicuously represent the emergencies and serious difficulties which characterize American railroads today.

Acting independently and yet in full sympathy they are laboring to bring order out of something like chaos. They feel, as many others do, that the question of immediate and vital importance at this time necessarily to be speedily answered if commerce and industry are abundantly aided, arises from the American railroad situation.

There is, it is true, one reassuring feature in the railroad situation. That was the enacting into law of the so-called Winslow-Townsend bill which became a law in the last week of President Wilson's administration. This bill made available to the railroads $370,000,000 which was due them from the government. Had it not been for the enactment of this law the situation would have been still more embarrassing and it is sufficiently embarrassing now.

HERITAGE OF WAR.

It is a fact that the financial conditions of the railroads are very disturbing. This is in part due to the heritage of the railroads following the return of them to private ownership. War emergencies with which the government direction of the railroads came face to face, made it necessary to put in practice many methods which, in normal times, would inevitably have brought the railroads or many of them face to face with the possibility of bankruptcy.

For instance the railroad offices and the railroad operating forces were overloaded with employees. Perhaps they were then necessary but it was speedily discovered, after the roads were returned to private management, that many of them were unnecessary and for that reason were draining the railroad treasuries without giving anything in return.

In the offices of one of the railroads whose terminals are upon the water front of New York were discovered in one department sixty workers on the payroll who had no more work to do than would have occupied three efficient clerks. Inevitably almost all of these unnecessary employees were laid off. Action of this kind undoubtedly explains why so many railroad employees have been laid off since the roads were returned to private ownership.

WHY CONDITIONS DISTURB.

A few statistics will explain why the railroad conditions are now so disturbing. In January the traffic, measured by car-loadings was the smallest of any month since February of 1919. This falling off in traffic continued until the first week of March. Then, apparently due to a little renewed activity in business, traffic was slightly increased. But there are now about 400,000 idle freight cars. Increases of 34 per cent in freight rates and approximately 25 per cent in passenger rates which were made effective in the summer of last year have failed to accomplish what was expected. These increases have not enabled the railroads to obtain funds sufficient to pay expenses. The government was in control of the railroads a little more than two years. But the government was not able to prevent deficits. The aggregate in two years was $800,000,000. To make that good it was necessary to take funds out of the Federal treasury. Then, too, there was a government guarantee and this brought the total deficit up to nearly $1,500,000,000.

PAID IN WAGES.

Salaries and wages now take about 70 per cent of all the income. This item was increased after 1917, due to wage increases and additions to the working force by about 100 per cent so that the annual payroll had reached in 1920, $3,000,000,000. The average annual earnings of each employe was increased about $0 per cent.

There appears to be no doubt that it is necessary still further to lay off many who have heretofore been employed on the railroads, although already some 300,000 have been laid off since the late summer of last year. The Railway Labor Board may aid in restoring the railroads by allowing a reduction in the basic wage rate.

HOW COUNTRY IS AFFECTED.

The situation is all the more important because the peak of the business crisis was passed after Congress enacted into law the bill which permitted common carriers to charge rates which, other things being equal, would guarantee them at least 5 per cent on their securities. The allies owe the United States approximately $10,000,000,000. But the railroads of the United States are debtors to the people by as much as $13,000,000,000, for investors of the country hold bonds to that amount. Five billions are or were held by savings banks and life insurance companies. Approximately one-half of the people of the United States are directly or indirectly owners of railroad bonds. If the value of these bonds be greatly impaired it would follow that so many small investors would be crippled that the industry and business of the nation would be paralyzed.

All the railway authorities and statesmen of whom Senator Cummins is a type are hopeful that this emergency will be overcome, but it is evident that all are persuaded that to restore the railroads considerable deflation in salaries and wages must be made and that there must be a further reduction in the number of employees.

The Waterfront

The fog along the coast entered port last evening, enveloping the bay cities. Although not as thick as usual it kept navigators and fog signal men on the bay busy during the early morning. The fog was the thickest and began clearing up when the sun made its appearance. A light fog may be expected again tonight.

The barometer registered 30 this morning and a slight change in the weather can be looked for. At North Heads the wind was from the north but very light.

The motor schooner Annie Johnson of the Matson line left the Hawaiian Islands March 12 for this port with sugar, but has not arrived here. She has met with some of the heavy wind and sea that the steamer Hawkeye State reported when she reached port a few days ago. The Johnson usually makes the voyage in about eleven days, and she either ran short of fuel or is still bucking head winds and seas.

With one of her propeller blades gone, the steamer W. S. Rheena, from London for Key West, put into Southampton for repairs in tow of the steamer Darden, the steamer City of Berkeley is making for Havana. The reason for the tow was not stated in the wireless message. The Berkeley left Honolulu for Havana, and was picked up by the Darden eighty-five miles from Havana. The city of Berkeley is a steel steamer, which was recently completed at the Union Construction Company of Oakland, and is on her first voyage to the Atlantic coast.

The Barnes-Tibbetts shipyard at Alameda, has several vessels overhauling. Among them are the Alaska Packers' ship Santa Clara, the schooner William Bowden, steamer Vanguard, ship Adolf Vinnen from Santa Rosalia, navy tug Slocum and the steamer Frank D. Stout. The steamer Admiral Nicolson completed a general overhauling and left there today.

Another shipment of lumber arrived at this port today amounting to three and one-half million feet. Each day this week lumber cargoes have been arriving here and many cargoes are on the way. The lumber market has been very low on account of the bad weather along the coast, where many vessels were bar bound.

The barkentine Thomas P. Emigh was towed to the Howard's dock, Oakland, today, where she will unload a cargo of 3195 tons of copra she brought from Apia on March 24. After unloading she will go on the drydock for a general overhauling and will then take a cargo of lumber from Puget Sound for Australia.

The Norwegian bark Svartskog, which left Newport News on October 16, has been given up for lost by her owners and the Marine Underwriters. No word has been heard from her since she left port, and it is feared all hands were lost with the vessel.

It has been proven in the marine study that the life of a steel vessel is about forty years. A wooden vessel will outlive that if properly taken care of. Warships owned by the government are condemned at the age of twenty years.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Custom House: Captain E. H. Sandelin, steamer Manoa; Captain E. P. Bartlett, steamer Governor; Captain C. A. Berndtson, steamer Wilhelmina; Captain Charles Peterson, steamer Hawkeye State; Captain A. Williams, gas schooner Gerland.

NEWS OF U. S. INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL CIRCLES

HIGHER PRICES OPENING TREND IN WALL STREET

Rails and Oils Are Leading Issues: Copper Stocks Continue To Ease.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Price tendencies were irregularly higher at the opening of today's stock market, yesterday's rally being for the most part well sustained or extended. Rails and oils were the leading issues with food specialties and utilities.

American Telephone forfeited a very small part of yesterday's substantial gain, but coppers continued to ease as a result of adverse trade conditions.

Preliminary quotations for foreign exchange gave promise of an active day in that quarter. Belgian and Italian rates approximated their maximum figures for many months.

Profit-taking and pressure from short caused reactions throughout the list within the first hour. American Telephone was freely supplied at a 2 point decline, Harvester lost 1¼, Sears, Roebuck 1½, and the oils, coppers and leathers, 1 to 1½.

There was little trading in rails, but that group also yielded, Union Pacific falling 1 point and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 1½. Call loans were again offered at 6½ per cent, and exchange on London continued strong.

Trading broadened during the mid-session when losses became more extensive. Harvester registered an extreme decline of 7¼ points, Otis Steel, preferred was five points lower, and American Linseed fell four points and Mexican Petroleum and Hide and Leather preferred reacted almost 3 points. Rails and motors also lost ground.

S. F. Stock Exchange
Oil—Mining

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Con Virginia lifted the Comstock list to higher levels on the Mining Shares Exchange today. The report of a rich strike in vigrin ground sent the issue bounding up to 70 at the opening and to 75 cents before noon. Ophir touched 34 on brisk buying. Silver Hills continued its advance, touching 60, while Broken Hills was fairly steady at 17 and 18 cents. Eureka Croesus changed hands at $1 and Holly was a shade higher at $1.65. West Divide rallied to 8 on reports of improvements in the mine. Pay Divide recovered to 8. Goldfields were unsold during the first two hours.

DRYERS OF FRUIT AND VEGETABLES BANDED IN STATE

Bay Session Names Staff To Protect Interests of Producers.

The Pacific Dehydrators League, recently formed in the Fresno District as an association of dehydrators of fruit and vegetables on commercial quantities, effected a permanent organization in San Francisco yesterday and elected officers and directors as follows:

President, J. B. Hazell, San Francisco; first vice-president, Clarence Graves, Yerington; second vice-president, I. T. Cirels, Santa Rosa; secretary-treasurer, C. A. Stewart, San Francisco; directors, A. R. Sprague, Mas adero, S. M. Simon, Burbank, W. H. Ewell, Watsonville; E. D. Vallient, San Martin.

A. R. Sprague, Clarence Grange and I. T. Cirels were chosen as the executive committee. E. D. Vallient will represent the league in negotiations with the Dried Fruit Association of California and Co. packing interests. W. H. Ewell was given charge of affairs relating to dried apples and S. M. Simon of southern California matters.

GOLF TROPHY FOR INSURANCE MEN

New competition was brought to Oakland insurance men yesterday by A. Duncan Reid, president of the Globe Indemnity Company of Newark, N. J., competition not contemplated perhaps, by the business he represented, but one hailed no less enthusiastically by some three score of the Eastbay's leading insurance brokers attending a luncheon at the Hotel Oakland given in honor of the visitor.

It may be said, in preface, that Reid is an indefatigable golfer.

"I am going to take the liberty," he announced in the course of a brief talk to the brokers, "of sending out to S. E. Jackson, our manager here, a golf trophy. It is to go permanently to the Oakland insurance man who wins it three times. When it has been won, I will see that it is replaced."

And having made that speech, Reid departed with Bacon Duncan of San Francisco, S. E. Jackson and a number of others for the Sequoyah course to spend the afternoon.

The insurance luncheon was one of the most enthusiastic get-together meetings of Oakland insurance men held here in a long time. Practically all of the important agencies of the city were represented.

President Reid, whose company, organized by the Liverpool and London Globe Insurance Company in 1911, has been active on the Pacific Coast, was introduced by Manager Jackson, and spoke briefly of company policy and purposes.

Reid declared his belief in Oakland as a city of tremendous opportunity, a city destined to grow far beyond its present size, and a city in which he had found possibilities and promises of the widest business development.

Canned Milk Industry Revives in Northwest

By THE CONSOLIDATED PRESS. Special to OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

By PAUL C. HEDRICK.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 30.—Dairy farmers of the Pacific Northwest now look to the future with confidence, according to reports from manufacturers of evaporated milk. Practically all plants of the North Pacific coast country closed last October because of the large surplus created by the falling off of exports to Europe. Indication that the situation has pretty much cleared is the fact that a large local company operating a broad field has resumed operations in all of its plants, now running at capacity. The curtailment in demand last fall resulted in a decrease in prices to the farmer for fresh milk. Since the resumption of Pacific Northwest condenseries, beginning last month, prices have been materially bettered.

There is a more optimistic feeling among business men of the Pacific Northwest, although there has been but slight actual improvement to date. Manufacturing in all lines is quiet and the retail trade is just slightly better, especially in women's wear, which showed a reaction to Easter demands.

Lumber and log prices are still down. As the Pacific Northwest is a big factor in the production of lumber for building, the actual situation by a large logging association is stated as follows:

No. 1 logs (suitable for flooring, door, and interior finishing), selling in March 1920 at $31 a thousand board measure are now $20. No. 2 logs, a year ago, $21 thousand, now are $16. No. 3 logs, rough dimension, a year ago $18, now $12.

Cleveland

By G. T. ROCKWELL.

CLEVELAND, O., March 30.—Although a gradual upward trend in business is generally accepted as prevailing in this section at present, many are looking to the special session of Congress to furnish some constructive legislation which will have an immediate sentimental effect on conditions in general.

Help for the farmer and foreign financing so that an outlet for the large oversupply of American products may be established are issues paramount in sending business ahead under somewhere near normal speed.

Banking conditions throughout the Fourth Federal District are in excellent shape as is shown by the combined ratio of 71.1 per cent, which is said to be the highest of any of the twelve federal districts.

Cleveland's motor industry, the first business to be retarded, is making gains and operations at one plant, the F. B. Stearns Company, reached 160 per cent last week. Business at the Peerless Motor plant is increasing moderately while the White Motor, which operated night and day up to December 31, is now running three days a week.

Merchants report satisfaction with the Easter trade. According to an official of the Retail Merchants' Board, business has been better than expected." Collections also are reported good.

In Other Centers

OFF TO MEXICO

ST. LOUIS, March 30.—The Chamber of Commerce of this city, following the example set by New Orleans and Boston, is sending a delegation of business men on a tour of Mexico. One hundred executive officers of business concerns will make the trip in a special train starting April 5. W. Frank Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has given out a statement declaring that the trip is not to be entirely a commercial affair, but an effort rather to bring Mexico into closer relationship with St. Louis in an educational as well as industrial way.

RAILROAD WAGES

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A tabulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of wages now paid to railway employees shows that the average wage for more than 2,000,000 workers is $166 a month. That is at the rate of $2,000 a year. The figures include all officers from general managers to messengers. The lowest paid employees are the section hands who average under the increased wage, $117 a month. The 241,218 clerks averaged $150 a month each. The 64,000 machinists drew an average of exactly $200 a month, and the freight engineers averaged $300 a month.

BIG GERMAN DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, March 30.—The French contention that Germany is able to pay some part of the reparation demanded would seem to be borne out by reports received here of large dividends paid by the industrial concerns of Germany for the year 1920. It must be taken into consideration that all of these dividends were announced before the Allied armies moved further into Germany in an effort to collect at least a fraction of the indemnities demanded. The reports show that the dividends seldom fell below 20 per cent, while they were often found around 40 per cent, with bonuses added. Germany's industrial establishments, of course, were not touched during the war, and the recovery of the former empire may be said to be very nearly complete along this line. The conditions are in sharp contrast to those in France.

Clothing

NEW YORK, March 30.—Advices from Paris indicate that felt hats continue in vogue there despite the advanced season. The newest trimming is one single flower at the side, such as a water lily. Veils also continue as popular as ever, but the flowing veil and the lace jabot have given place to figured veils caught in under the chin.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Organdies and dotted swisses and gingham have so monopolized the cotton goods market this Spring that some dealers are attempting to introduce novelties to vary the monotony. Irish dimities are being employed in this direction. They are in small figured effects which give them the quaint quality of old prints, but are in the light colors most wanted in summer merchandise.

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—Recent importations of French lingerie by one of the largest houses here all show a trend to fine batiste and handkerchief linen. The French models show an adjustability to individual needs and many American ideas are embraced in the collections, although the typically French shaped garments have not been neglected.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 30.—Fading away of misgivings about crop damage led to a moderate downward swing of prices today in the wheat market. A majority of reports indicated that no harm had been done by recent low temperatures. Opening prices, which varied from ½c decline to ½c advance, with May 112½ to 112⅝ and July 125¼ to 125½, were followed by setbacks all around.

Subsequently unusual depression in the corn market had a bearish effect on wheat. The close was heavy with May $1.39⅞ to $1.40 and July $1.21 to $1.21¼.

Corn opened ⅛c to ⅝c down, including May at 63¼ to 63⅝, and continued to sag. Oats started a shade to ⅛c off, May 41⅛, and then descended further.

Provisions lacked support.

Agreement Reached With Egg Candlers

Agreements which have been reached between Oakland egg houses and their candlers and also by most of the egg houses in San Francisco have resulted in a practical termination of the candlers' strike which has been on for a week, affecting about two-thirds of the members of the Egg Inspectors' Union in the bay region. The agreement was in the nature of a compromise with restoration of the old scale in which the men made concessions in wages and the companies as to hours of employment.

An eight-hour day now is now the standard with time and a half overtime and double pay for Sundays and holidays. So heavy has been the rush of eggs for packing in Oakland that a number of the candlers have been doing steady overtime and holiday work.

Grocers Consider Action of Packers

Thirty-five members of the Retail Grocers' Association of Oakland, meeting at the Oakland Wholesale Grocery Company last night took up the situation confronting them as the result of the packers' withdrawal of discount advantages. The association has in progress negotiations of a new contract, details of which are not yet announced, but by which it expects to replace its former advantageous position as a wholesale buyer.

PHONE DIVIDEND RAISED.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company announced today that commencing July 15, the regular annual dividend rate would be increased from eight per cent to nine per cent.

"The change is nothing more than an adjustment to new conditions," President Thayer said.

Local Market Notes

Increased marketing of northern grown spring vegetables is being felt in the Oakland stalls. Daily offerings now are becoming more plentiful and the price trend on seasonable commodities, starting high, has been steadily downward.

Asparagus today sold off to five cents. The best went at 7 cents. There was some asparagus sold also at 4 cents but it was of very poor quality. Opening of the canneries Monday may mean a raise of a cent, but hardly more, so plentiful is the supply.

An influence on the market is the increasing delivery of peas. One local firm will begin the harvest of first planting on 100 acres next week directly for the Oakland market.

Several market men went out today to take stock of new potatoes, and it was anticipated that increased digging would be under way. The offerings thus far have been meagre and not of extra quality. Prices today ranged around 9 cents. The potato market has maintained its strength for several weeks and there is no prospect of any considerable break.

Eggs and butter continued their seesaw movements today by declining a cent each to 36 cents for butter and 29 cents for eggs. The market continued as weak as ever. Some small speculation has been going on. Egg houses in Oakland are reported packed full.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 30.—A good undertone prevailed today in the cotton market and first prices were 9 to 16 points higher, reflecting firmer cables. Wall Street, Liverpool and spot houses bought, while offerings came mostly from traders having southern connections. At the end of the first fifteen minutes the market was steady and about 12 points higher.

The cotton market held within a narrow range in the last hour. The close was quiet at a net advance of 6 to 12 points.

GLAND OPERATION IS PERFORMED ON WOMEN PRISONERS

First Experiment of Kind On Sex Made By Dr. Stanley At San Quentin.

By GEORGE C. HENDERSON

Revelations that "interstitial gland" operations have been performed on women convicts at San Quentin prison by Dr. L. L. Stanley, resident physician, have just been made by the doctor, who has been carrying on the experiments secretly for some months. These are the first operations of the kind performed on women in the United States.

Dr. Stanley will not state how many had been thus operated upon and declined to say if any beneficial results were obtained. Dr. Stanley made his first gland implant in August, 1918, and since that time has performed more than 200 such injections and operations, three of which were on women, it is said.

Whether the injection or transplantation of the gland material in women will stimulate the nerve centers, increase weight, improve the eyesight and hearing, cure rheumatism and brighten the color in girlish cheeks is yet to be determined, according to Dr. Stanley, who refuses to attribute any great virtue to the experiment at this stage.

COUNTRY IS INTERESTED

That the entire continent is watching the experiments being made by Dr. Stanley, who is said to be the only physician on the Pacific Coast who is working at them on a tireless, systematic basis, was the statement of Dr. George G. Reinle, Oakland surgeon. Reinle expressed surprise when he heard that Dr. Stanley is now extending his gland operations to woman. "He is the only physician in America who is now conducting these experiments that I know of," declared Dr. Reinle.

Dr. Stanley's experiments in salvaging the wrecks of womanhood that find their way behind the stone walls of San Quentin prison may not meet with the same success as the operations on the 200 men, he admitted, and these are not being conducted on an extensive scale until after efficacy has been thoroughly tested out on the white rats.

After the doctor has determined that the white rats have greater endurance and speed after a gland operation than before, he will then pursue more extensively his investigations of the effect of the injected material on women.

The first operations on women prisoners at the State's prison was hedged about by the greatest secrecy and it was only by chance that they were discovered. Dr. Stanley attempted to minimize their importance and declared at last that he had only one such operation to speak of.

"The results may be only temporary, and therefore I am loth to say anything about them," said Dr. Stanley. "One girl prisoner who consented to the operation being performed noticed a slight increase in weight, a greater vivacity, an increase in the brightness of the eye and a general mental improvement."

HOSPITALS MAY TRY IT

That certain San Francisco hospitals have now, or will very soon begin performing the "interstitial gland" operations on men as a result of Dr. Stanley's work was the statement of Dr. Jensen, assistant to Superintendent Broderick of the Alameda County hospital.

"I am not in a position to name the hospitals," said Dr. Jensen, "but I understand the new cure for debility and a run-down condition will be tried in San Francisco."

Dope fiends, men suffering from hernia, aged wrecks who have reached their 70th and 80th years, perverts and scores of convicts at San Quentin who have been suffering from nervous diseases and a general debility, have been lifted to a new level of youth, happiness and health by the operations performed by Dr. Stanley.

Very few of the women prisoners themselves know that the interstitial gland operation has been performed on their fellow convicts. Those who have received the injection have evidently been instructed not to talk to others about it.

Women voluntarily submit to these experiments, just as the men are now asking that such implants be made in them. The operation is of a minor character and does not even confine the patient to bed, under the system of injection, according to Dr. Stanley.

Oakland Man Leaps Chasm In Grand Canyon of Arizona

Movie Stunt of Doug Is Equalled.

Charles J. Selby Jr., 556 Thirty-seventh street, Oakland, has duplicated one of Douglas Fairbanks' recent feats in jumping over a deep chasm in the Grand Canyon of Arizona, according to a letter from Selby received here today. The letter was accompanied by a kodak picture showing Selby midway in the long jump between the two rocky points that tower hundreds of feet above the floor of the valley. In the foreground are two spectators, who, many feet from the edge of the chasm, are watching the daring stunt.

Fairbanks added to his repertoire of thrills when he bridged the wide gap during a visit to the Grand Canyon. A short time ago Selby was a visitor at the same spot and suddenly responded to the same impulse that made the movie star risk his life for a thrill. Selby is located temporarily at Prescott, Ariz.

Facing Death by Starvation, Rat Commits Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Financiers on Montgomery street were gossiping today of the sensational case of the rat who committed suicide rather than starve to death.

A week ago the rat—a fine, sleek specimen—fell down a light well and was imprisoned on the glass roof of a ventilator at a popular lunch place on the edge of the financial district.

Each day business men looked up and discussed the fate the rodent was facing.

Last night, gaunt and starved, it walked to the edge of the ventilator, peered down at the marble floor below, poised a moment and deliberately leaped to its death.

STAGES TO HEED SPEED LIMIT LAW

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30. — Automobile stage companies must obey the speed laws first and maintain their time schedules afterward, declared Frank R. Devlin, president of the State Railroad Commission, at a hearing late yesterday, when San Francisco police and municipal authorities of peninsular towns called to his attention the fact that the stage companies, in order to maintain their published schedules, must operate faster than the law allows.

The traffic bureau of the railroad commission will determine in the near future whether there is widespread violation of the automobile traffic laws by the auto stage companies, Devlin said.

Tariffs filed yesterday with the state board disclose that auto stages must travel an average of 35 miles an hour down the peninsula to maintain their schedule. This speed would have to be maintained on a continuous trip and makes no allowance for districts in which there is a 20-mile or even a 15-mile speed limit nor for stops, it is pointed out.

The time schedules of the companies, for instance, require a speed of 33 miles an hour between San Mateo and Burlingame, a distance of 1½ miles and an average of 35 miles an hour between San Mateo and Belmont, 4.1 miles.

The lawful speed limit, however, police point out, is 30 miles during daylight hours with a minimum of 35 miles on a clear highway.

In discussing the case, President Devlin points out that in the excessive speeds of the stages there is a real danger to life and limb.

WOMAN IS BADLY BEATEN AT OWN DOOR BY THUG

Housewife Is Victim of Mystery Attack; Assailant Disappears.

Struck in the face and breast last night by an unidentified man, Mrs. T. Saunders, 648 Fifteenth street, is under the care of a physician at her home today, while police are conducting a search for the perpetrator of the attack.

Mrs. Saunders was called to the door of her home last night to find a large man, about 40 years old, trying to open the door. When she opened the door to find out what he wanted, he pushed in his hand so that she was unable to close it and forced it open.

Without any apparent reason the intruder then struck her in the face with his fist and then on the chest, knocking her to the floor. He then fled. Police inspectors, who were sent to investigate, were unable to locate the man. Mrs. Saunders said that she had never seen him before and was unable to make any explanation for the attack.

LETTER OF GRATITUDE FROM TRADE UNION IRON WORKER
Oakland, Cal.

W. L. Gorr.

For about four and one-half years I suffered from Dysentery. I gradually grew worse and finally became so ill that for 3 years I was unable to work. I tried numerous doctors and spent four months at various hospitals, without gaining relief. At least five different doctors wanted to cut me open to find out what was the matter but I knew I was physically unable to stand it. I was in despair. My friend asked me to try the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST, widely known as the most reliable and successful on the Pacific coast. After four weeks of his herb treatment, I am in splendid physical condition and am feeling fine. Words cannot express my gratitude. I am a trade union iron worker and am back at work again. If any person desires further details I will gladly furnish them. WILLIAM GORR.

Heart Trouble Responds to Sing Herbs

Refused insurance for fifteen years, because of heart trouble, for relief of which many doctors offered no hope, D. S. Sayer, 1514 Spruce st., Berkeley, was bettered in a few months by the Sing Herb Specialists. His own letter follows:
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
For twenty years I have been a victim of heart trouble which was so acute that for the past fifteen years I have been refused life insurance by all of the insurance companies. During that time I have consulted many doctors without getting relief or hope of cure. Five months ago I consulted the Sing Herb Specialists and began taking the course of treatments prescribed by them. Now my condition is greatly improved and I feel infinitely better. I feel much better than I have felt for the last twenty years.

AUDITORIUM IS BEING PREPARED FOR BIG BENEFIT

Women Busy Decorating Hall For War Veterans' Ball Saturday.

Members of the Overseas Women's League under the direction of Mrs. E. K. Sturgis, president of the local organization, this morning donned aprons and started the task of decorating the Municipal Auditorium for the benefit ball of the Associated Federal Students of Oakland disabled war veterans to be held Saturday evening.

Coincident with the start of work on decorating the immense auditorium, private decorators appeared and commenced work decorating the various private boxes which have been bought by prominent society matrons and public officials. Clubs and patriotic organizations for whom boxes have been reserved also started decorating their boxes today.

Keen rivalry has sprung up among the private box holders as to who will possess the most elaborately decorated box and the professional decorators working at the Auditorium promise some novel efforts will be introduced to the public at the ball.

Mrs. J. H. Pape, chairman of the committee in charge of the disposal of boxes for the ball, announced this morning that less than ten boxes are now left for sale and that from present outlook these will be taken either today or tomorrow.

Headquarters of the dance committee at Room 105, Hotel Oakland, which rooms were donated the committee by the hotel proprietors, were thronged with purchasers of tickets last night and yesterday and members of the committee in charge of the affair report that the sale of tickets in the past few days has exceeded by far their greatest hopes.

Tickets for the ball will be sold throughout the Eastbay district all this week and at the Auditorium the evening of the dance. They are being sold in numerous stores, industrial establishments and at booths located on all of the prominent downtown corners. Tickets for the ball cost $1 each.

VETERANS IN MARCH

Word was received by the dance committee last night that large delegations of ex-service men from Richmond, Martinez, San Leandro, Hayward, Niles, Livermore and Pleasanton will be in attendance at the ball and special arrangements are being made to see that these veterans are placed together in the grand march.

E. E. Bricker, chairman of the dance committee, last night issued a statement in which he made it clear that the ball will assume the air of "wartime" affairs at which class distinction was forgotten in the quest of those present for a "good time." This, Bricker states, will not be missing for those who attend.

Final rehearsals of the pageant of "The Three Fates" by Mrs. Bessie London, first wife of the world famous California writer, Jack London, and her two daughters, Mrs. Park Abbott and Miss Beth London, will be held at the Auditorium tomorrow afternoon.

World Exchange of Professors, U. C. Plan

BERKELEY, March 30 — Exchange professors with universities in all parts of the world will soon be arranged if the present plans of the University of California regents are completed. Under the suggestion of the late Henry Morse Stephens, the system of exchange professorships was begun several years ago, and now instructors are exchanged each year with South American universities.

Last semester Professor S. D. Holmes of the University of Sydney in Australia, visited the California campus, and upon his return to Sydney has written the Berkeley institution that his university is prepared to offer an exchange professor to California. The proposal has been placed before the university authorities, and it is expected that a man will be chosen to make the trip to Australia as exchange professor.

Children Get Reward For Father's Kind Act

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30 — A reward for the game action of their father in endeavoring to stem a rush on a Los Angeles bank 16 years ago was paid today to Eli W. Hawkins, a teamster, of 1239 Carlotta avenue, Berkeley, and his sister, Mrs. Effie Kent, employed in the City of Paris cafeteria. The money was distributed by order of Judge Graham from the estate of the late I. W. Hellman Sr., president of Wells Fargo National bank, who died last year. Hellman was originally a Los Angeles banker and in 1875 when a San Francisco financial institution failed and a panic struck California, there was a run on one of Hellman's banks in Los Angeles. Eli W. Hawkins Sr. not only refused to withdraw his funds, but made substantial deposits and prevented a bank crash.

B. A. Herrington, Leading Lawyer, Weds S. F. Girl

Former Prosecuting Attorney of Santa Clara Again a Benedict.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—Bertram A. Herrington, who was formerly district attorney of Santa Clara county and prominent politically in this State some twenty years ago, was quietly married yesterday to Miss Helen Choisser, an instructor at Heald's Business College here.

The marriage license record gives Harrington's age as 48 and his address as San Jose. The bride is 22 years of age and has been living at 1711 Leavenworth street for the past year.

Herrington is also a past exalted ruler of San Jose Elks. He was married in 1902 to Mrs. Daniel Chapman after procuring a divorce for her. She divorced him in 1918.

HENRY G. RAND, CATTLEMAN, DEAD

Henry Gordon Rand, one of the best known stockmen of the West and considered an authority on the subject of livestock, died Saturday at Merritt hospital.

Henry G. Rand.

Rand was born in Boston and came West as a young man. He engaged in ranching in Laramie, Wyo., where he became one of the cattle kings of that region. In 1905 he came to Oakland to make his home. He was married in 1891 to Miss Annie Hempstead, daughter of the late Major Charles H. Hempstead formerly superintendent of the San Francisco mint and also secretary of state of California under Governor Bigler.

Rand is survived by his widow and by four children, Helen, Margaret, Hamilton and William A., fifth child, Henry Gordon Rand Jr., is dead.

U. C. Comic Monthly Has Oriental Flavor

BERKELEY, March 30—A flavor of the Far East permeated today's Oriental issue of the "Pelican," University of California comic monthly.

Cartoons showing harem maids in scant attire and burlesquing Oriental traditions filled the pages.

Here are some of the humorous quips culled from the pages of the college magazine:

The Philadelphia minister who designed the modest gown has everything but the woman to wear it.

What can a woman see to admire in a man who continually washes the dishes for her?

There's a new yellow peril now—jackass brandy.

What would Cleopatri think if she should see her fellow countrymen wandering about in automobile caravans?

It'll take deep mud this spring to dirty the bottom of any woman's skirt.

Pelly recommend sthe bloomers of the Orient as a panacea for all the eye troubles on the campus.

Merchant Tailors Hear President Talk

Co-operation and advertising was the subject of talk given by W. S. The following members were present: Charles Adams and son, M. Bock, E. L. Dahlgren, Ambrose, William Hollkamp, J. Lancaster, H. Miller, Morris, B. Ovlen, Byron Rutley, L. Scheeline, S. Simonson, Less Smarr, C. Toomey, J. W. Warfel, K. Wills and J. Ringholm.

Husband To Fight Wife's Bigamy Charge

Eugene B. Grosset, also known as Charles E. Fester, does not propose to let the wife, who accuses him of having bigamously married her, go without a court contest, it is apparent by the fact that today there is on file an answer to her suit for annulment of their marriage.

The wife is Mrs. Bertha Gardner Grosset, 241 Central avenue, to whom he was twice married, in Chicago as Grosset and in Oakland as Fester. She charged that he was not legally free from a former wife but he denies this allegation.

BRIDGE FAVORED, TUBE TOO COSTLY, SAYS ENGINEER

Supervisors Hear Report in Effort To Solve Traffic Over Estuary.

The report made public yesterday comparing the cost of submarine tubes with that of various types of bridges to solve the problem of traffic between Oakland and Alameda, was filed with the board of supervisors today. The report was voluntarily compiled by W. J. M. Fogelstrom, consulting engineer, and favors the building of a bridge rather than submarine tubes.

The report says in part that at least three submarine tubes would be required and that the length would be about 9050 lineal feet, assuming a 4 per cent grade and calling the harbor channel 500 feet wide. The entrances to the submarine tubes on the Oakland side, it is pointed out, would be at or very close to Fifth street, both on account of the grade and so as to get sufficient clearance under the Western Pacific tracks on Third street.

These statements are based on the assumption that the tubes or bridges if built, would be located between the present Webster street bridge and Harrison street railway bridge.

Three types of bridge are described in the report as being practical solutions of the traffic situation. The first is the rolling lift bridge or Bascule bridge. The report states that the Southern Pacific is now designing a Bascule bridge to take the place of both the Webster street and Harrison street bridges.

"If this bridge is wide enough," says the report, "it will probably answer all purposes for the next thirty or more years.

"The other two types mentioned are the direct lift bridge and the aerial ferry bridge."

Referring to the time allowance in the notice received from Washington by Alameda county to alter, repair or remove the Webster street bridge, the report says:

"The war department at Washington, D. C., has set the time as June 30, 1924, when any alterations or changes have to be finished. This leaves only two years and three months for the construction work. From an engineering standpoint, it would seem impossible to finish any submarine tubes during such a short time considering that no preliminary work has even been authorized to date, but any of the three kinds of bridges mentioned above can be completed within the time provided construction is started this summer."

The report goes on to state that there is no question that submarine tubes would be most preferable if it were not for the high cost of their construction.

Fogelstrom states in another part of his report: "If the Bascule bridge or any bridge is decided upon, the agreement is that the county pays only half of the cost and the Southern Pacific pays the other half, which would seem fortunate enough for the county to choose a bridge."

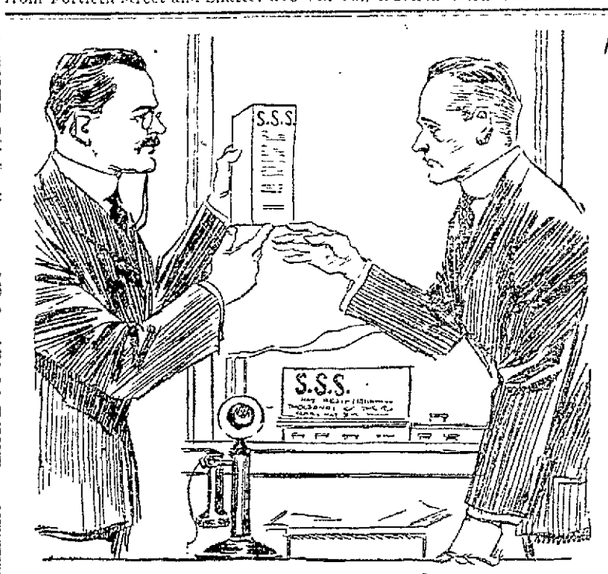
Hikers Will Visit Bear Creek Falls

A pilgrimage to the place where the waters of Bear Creek leap for a fall of 40 feet over a sandstone ledge in Pleasant Valley, will be made Sunday under the auspices of the Contra Costa Hills club, it was announced today. The party will be led by Urban N. Tucker.

Leaving on the 8:30 a. m. train from Fortieth street and Shatter avenue station of the Sacramento-San Francisco electric train, the hikers will go to Lafayette. From here they will hike to the falls, which are the largest in this district.

The hikers will stroll from the falls, 'cross country to Claremont through the canyons of Canyon Town on the Eastern slope of Baldy. Miles of wildflowers are in bloom in this section.

England never used steam shovels in construction work until 1920.



Are You Old and Tired at 40? Take a Tonic!

Why friend, you're just in the prime of life at 40! There's no excuse for your playing out at this age. What you need is a general, all-around toning up of the system—particularly the blood.

Medical science tells us a person who takes good care of himself or herself should not become infirm with age until around the sixtieth year. Certainly 40 is far too early.

Take care of yourself, friend; that's what is necessary for health. Get plenty of sleep. Eat plain, substantial foods. Exercise in the fresh air. Keep your system well flushed out. And above all things keep your blood pure!

Wholesome blood gives you life and vigor; bad blood makes you dull and listless. Maybe that's exactly what ails you now! Try cleansing the impurities and poisons from your blood stream and see if it doesn't bring back the old time spring and vigor to your muscles. Thousands have had that experience.

For this cleansing, you will find S.S.S., the famous old herb remedy, excellent indeed. S.S.S. has given a light step and a sparkling eye to hosts of people who thought they were "through" at 40, but who in reality needed only a thorough blood cleansing to make them feel young again.

Get S.S.S. from your druggist today—right now, while your health is on your mind. Start taking it at once, then write in detail about your physical condition to Chief Medical Advisor, 859 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia, and he will give you individual expert advice free.
